"DEACON" WHITE GOES DOWN AGAIN.

The Unexpected Drop in Securities Floored Him,

SCENES IN THE STOCK EXCHANGE

And Out on the Street-A Regular Pandemonium-But Everything Quieted Down Before the Close.

New York, May 5 .- S. V. White, more familiarly known as the "Dercon," has again been forced to succumb. Shortly after 10:30 o'clock this morning Mr. White's suspension was read from the rostrum of the stock exchange. It will be remembered that Mr. White was practically ruined about two years ago in an attempt to corper the corn market. He eventually made a settlement with his creditors and resumed business at the stock exchange. He made considerable money in the Industrials, but like a great many others, overstayed his market. Mr. White first came into prominence by his masterly handling of Delaware, Lackawanna and Western some years ago for the H. B. Claffin interest. The late Jay Gould once said in an interview that the only real leader in Wall street was "Deacon" White. Mr. White was very much broken up this morning. He was besieged by his friends and brokers through whom he had been dealing. It was not until after 10 o'clock that Mr. White realized that an assignment was necessary. No idea of the extent of the failure could be learned at the office until 11:10 o'clock a. m., when Mr. White made the following statement to the press: The unexpected drop in all securities has made it impossible to realize on securities or to collect margins to meet my engagements. S. V. WHITE.

When seen at his office after this announcement, Mr. White said:

suspension you need only to look at the tape. The terrific drop in the market has ed me up and I was forced to suspend. I have a large number of outstanding contracts which must be closed out. The drop in Sugar was one of the chief causes of my

Mr. White was a large seller of stock rivileges and his present troubles are ergely due to that. His puts on the market ave been bought right and left during the resent crisis in the stock market and the raid and severe decline in the market has enabled the purchasers of his privileges to put stocks to prices away above the market. Mr. White this morning was unable to give a definite idea of his liabilities, but said he would make a public statement Th and in the Stock Exchange—Men Rushing Like They Were Mad.

There were lowering clouds on the Wall treet horizon this morning, though the sun f nature was shining brightly through a in-washed and wind-blown atmosphere that was stereoscopically clear. Brokers and bankers have not idled over their rolls and coffee at breakfast. Every man, with copper's interest in speculative fields knew that the band would begin to play at the drop of the gaval at the stock exchange and each one was anxious at that time to be in the procession and close up where the elephants should be walking.

In every office, the hustling community. e clattering ticker was the centerpiece about which all revolved. Nobody could tell from the opening what history lay ust the other side of 10 o'clock, when the pandemonium should be let loose.

Those who were in wore strained and anxious faces, while those who were out but hovered about from habit, were scarce ly less anxious. No man could know his neighbor's secrets and he who had an anxiis secret told it only in his manner of feverish unrest. Some, perchance, felt their toes were over the edge of a sheer declivity and could not know but that the developments of an hour might push them clean over the brink and into the financial Others, with narrow margin between their feet and the precipice—but yet a per-ceptible margin—were largely anxious to learn if the intervening space was rock or sliding sand or crumbling gravel.

Acting Like They Were Mad. In the streets men and boys shot past each other, diving in here and darting out there—rushing in or hurrying out of the office where their interests centered, and so the calm hands on old Trinity's calm lesterday Was with the clock dial pointed the hour that should begin another day that wears the flesh and nerves of men was unboard in should be the record of the next five hours that lay between the opening and closing of that pandemoniac pit, where the tortunes of men might be tossed about like kelp on a stormy tide. Any fond optimist who, before the opening, imagined that the market might stiffen at the outset, was disappointed. Every eye was on Cordage and there was movement in the picture within ten minutes after the booming of the cannon to engage every eye. The ap-pointment of receivers for the National Cordage Company, at a late hour last night, Appeared at the close with a was the occasion for a further break in the preferred stock this morning. The preferred stock had closed at 65, but within ten minutes after I0 o'clock it had lost its balance and plumped down fifteen points to 50. There it caught a jutting rock for a moment, but the rock was knife-edged and Cordage preferred slipped its brief hold and rattled down the precipice until it touched 40. "Where is it going to land?" said those who watched the descent.

"Never mind," cried the optimist, "it will lodge and stick pretty quick. There will be a breathing spell and a change of wind pretty soon.'

And the prediction was in some degree verified before the hour passed, there being before 11 o'clock a perceptible lessening of the rush to sell. Cordage common opened at 19 to 21, 5,000 shares changing hands at these prices. Meanwhile, along the ragged declivity of alarm, there were other interests tumbling and scrambling against the face of the situation. General Electric was anroher weak spot and in the first few minutes of business the stock broke 5 points to 75. The fact that certain of the officials have thought it necessary to issue a statement that the company is all right, was viewed with suspicion in some quarters. At 10:15 o'clock a. m. the stock was selling at 69. Sugar was also attacked and broke to 76, while Chicago dropped to 60. Manhattan was sold down 5 1-2 to 121. Considering the panic in the Industrial group the general list held fairly well.

Manhattan, however, took n notion to romp down the hill of speculation. It strated from the mark at 126 and settled along the slide a little more than 10 jumps. On its way it scoured away all margins and long holdings down to 115 3-4. Then Manhattan seemed a little ashamed of its gambol and turning about, climbed up again to 120. There it stopped for breathing, but it proved to have become weak during its antics and slid down again, this time to

Meanwhile colored lights were being turned on the outside of the stock exchange building. Before 10:20 o'clock there had been a renewal of yesterday's rumors that S. V. White was tangled up in the weeds directly below the spot where Cordage had lodged on the brink at the close of yes-terday's cyclone. When the tempest was this morning renewed and when Cordage was blown off and over the brink where it clung overnight, it was found that true to rumor, S. V. White was struggling di-rectly in the pathway. And there was also a smell of Chicago Gas in the vicinity. Cordage had tangled and bound him so tight that he could not move and it was three-quarters of an hour after the opening of the whistling

The report that Mr. White was flat on the moor at the base of the precipice crept quickly into the building, where a hell of excitement was surging to high water marks. The rumor was quickly followed by the official announcement that Mr White was down. Some paused to go down where he lay and ask what had struck him, and though disabled, he responded that the terrific drop of Cordage and the explosion of Chicago Gas had stunned and suffocated him. He was unable to go on at present, though he might get up later to where Mr. White was down, remarked:

"Too bad, and just when he had gotten on his pins afresh." S. V. White's sheet went through the clearing house all right last night and his checks were certified. Soon there came from Boston the statement that Francis Hershaw & Co., stock brokers, had failed. "Who are they?" many asked, but nobody paused to answer and the majority had little time to investigate. It was little difference, however, It was a wipe out and that was enough to speed the temper. And so passed the

When 11 o'clock chimed down the excited street from Trinity's steeple, the record as nearly as could be made up from the rapidly changing figures, was this way:

Fluctuations in Prices.

The first hour the decline in prices was uncommouly heavy and the excitement reached a higher pitch than at any previous times since the panic started. National Cordage preferred dropped 25 points to 45. American Sugar 20 1-4 to 65 3-4; American Sugar preferred 17 to 68; American Cotton Oil to 8 3-4; National Cordage 4 1-2 to 15 1-2; American Tobacco 4 to 58; Quincy 4 to 83 1-2; Chicago Gas 15 3-4 to 59; Rock Island 4 1-4 to 77 1-2; Lackawanna 3 1-4 to 138 1-2; General Elec trje 22 to 58; Manhattan 10 1-2 to 115; National Lead 6 1-2 to 26 1-2; National Lead preferred 10 to 68; New England 3 to 25; Omaha 5 to 113; Rubber 6 3-4 to 39; Western Union 3 to 84; and Wheeling and Lake Erie preferred 4 1-2 to 45. The panic culminated with the announce ment of the failure of S. V. White.

Following this some sharp rallies occurred; 9 1-2 in Chicago Gas to 68 1-2; 5 to 63 in General Electric; 4 in Manhattan to 119; 2 1-2 in Sugar to 68 3-4; 4 in Cotton Oil to 34; 2 1-2 in Quincy to 86; 2 in Cordage common to 17 1-2 and 5 in Cordage preferred to 50. The rally did not hold and speculation was excited and feverish, owing to the circulation of rumors affecting the solvency of our firms and individuals.

Talks with the Financiers.

At 11 o'clock the market was still feverish. Mr. Theodore Havemeyer, vice president of the Sugar company, stated that there was absolutely nothing in the affairs of the company that would warrant the break of this morning. The bank of the company, he said, had a very large surplus and was a very large lender

At the office of Henry Allen & Co. Assignee Hammil says the statement of the condition of the firm is not ready and probably will not be given out today. Schuyler Walden, who was crashed down by yesterday's break in the Industrials says he has nothing to say as yet about his affairs. At the office of Ladenburg, Thalman & Co. it is said there is not a word of truth in the report that they had given the Cordage trust sterling credit for $2,500. 000. A member of the firm says the com-pany was given a credit of 37,500 pounds and the firm holds ample collateral against the loan. Attachment Against the Cordage.

Deputy Sheriff Young today received an attachment for $58,565 against the National Cordage Company in favor of Paul L. The baud and others. The sheriff has served copies of the attachment on a number of Wall street brokers. President Waterbury, of the Cordage company, said this manning. of the Cordage company, said this morning that he had not applied for a receiver for himself individually. He would not say whether or not application would be made for one. He said that his affairs had become somewhat ambarrassed through leans come somewhat embarrassed through leans which be made to the Cordage company. as well as attempts to support the stocks. The receivership of the company will, in a measure, relieve him as well as his associate, Mr. Wall, of pressure from the Coldage obligation, thus strengthening their con-

With reference to the decline in General Electric, it was stated that a special dispatch had been received from President Coffin, in which he said that General Factic had no pressing liabilities, no call loans outstanding, and had recently paid $2,000,000 of its obligations. He does not find collections at all slow and the company's fac-tories are as crowded as ever to keep up with the orders. The decline in Manhattan was at first attributed to a reported failure of the negotiations with the rapid transit commissioners for the proposed extensions, The company, it was said, would absolutely refuse today the conditions imposed by the commissioners. When, however, the failure of Mr. White was announced, the cause of the decline was at once apparent. He was heavily long of the stock.

A LULL IN THE STORM.

An Advance Makes a Better Feeling Toward the Close.

At high noon, the battle of values in the stock of change slipped away a trifle in the intensity of the movement. The ferocious nervous strain was still there, but the flesh had wearied somewhat and thus the move-ment was less rapid. There was a thunderous tone, however, in the speculative at-mosphere and though there were spells of spasmodic bidding, they came like flashes of lightning in the tempest of today. The fluctuations at noon were wide, though a trifle less frequent.

When some broker lifted up his voice and his finger to buy, the furies rushed in upon him, and instantly the tape which was carrying history into hundreds of offices, recorded an avance of from 2 to 4 points. On the other hand, let any man press his thumb against the flabby and unsteady market, it yielded or gave way. Some interests that had been sucked into the whirlwind were, however, catching hold upon stout sapplings along its pathway. At noon General Electric had got its grappling hooks into the earth and had pulled itself back 17 points, Sugar had recovered 6 1-4, Manhattan had skurried backward along the storm path 7 lengths, and others had caught and recovered though less in distance toward

The third hour of the day the battlewas yet young when the "action" again became tight that he could not move and it was more rapid. There may have been somewith Cordage that he was stricken down thing like a reflex muscular action of one executed by electricity. To those in the crush of the movement, however, the specternoon were to all intents and purposes, the throes of great interests fighting deadly attacks. Rarely, if ever in the history of stock exchange, were there such wild the countries witnessed. One of the largest tuntions witnessed. One of the largest houses on the street was said to be in treuble and its failure only a matter of hours.

London Buying Heavily. Seen at a distance of 3,000 miles, the disosition had a different aspect. While our wn brokers were in a dazed condition and throwing over their stocks regardless of prices, foreign houses were quietly at work picking up the dividend payers. Their purchases were heavy enough to demoralize the foreign exchanges and posted rates were reduced to 486 and 489. It was estimated that up to noon today London's purchases of securities in the local market aggregated fully sixty thousand shares, consisting of St. Paul, Louisville and Nashville, Wabash preferred and other interior national favorites. Money at this time was close and stock exchange borrowers were paying 11 and 12 per cent.

At 1 o'clock the battle had been on three hours and many of those in the early engagement had gone outside to the sutler's camps for food. They heard how London and other centers were lying back in comparative safety and absorbing the fruits of their sacrifices.

A Change for the Better The result was a change for the better in the stock market and a steadier tone characterized the next dealings. The foreign buying was felt inside to have been on a heavy scale and the New Yorkers saw that European purchasers had certainly picked up some very cheap stocks. The example set by the foreigners and the confidence they displayed in our securities revived the drebping courage of home operators and a great rally resulted. Manhattan bounced up to 130 1-2 from 125, a gain of 5 1-2 per cent. General Electric rallied 58 to 77 1-2; Sugar from 62 to 74 3-4, and Chicago Gas from 59 to 72 1-2. The general railway list showed recoveries of anywhere from 1 to 5 per cent. Meanwhile the posted rate of sterling exchange had been reduced 1-2/cent, to 186 and 189. One of the Canadian banks quoted rates at 485 1-2 and 488. Actual rates were 483 1-2 and 484 1-4 for bankers sixty days, 486 1-2 for demand and 486 3-4 and 487 1-2 for cables. The demoralization was due to the heavy purchases of securities for foreign account, which have increased the volume of ex-change. There would, it became evident, be no gold shipments tomorrow. The stringency in the money market call loans having advanced to 30 per cent also had a tendency to weaken sterling. Then came into the situation another clap of thunder. The suspension of Broker W. L. Patton was announced and another house was stated to have gone under, but the report proved at least premature and was Following these announcements and a further advancement in call loans to 40 per cent, stocks began to weaken once more. Manhattan, which had spurted up to 130 1-2 on a rumor that the rapid transit commission would modify the terms recently offered the company, broke to 125. National Cordage and General Electric fell back to 72; Sugar to 70 1-4; Cordage Common to 20 1-4; Chicago Gas to 69, and Quincy to 86.

At 1:30 o'clock p. m. money sold off to 18 to 20 per cent and the pressure against the market was lifted and just previous to 2 o'clock process to 2 o'clock pr 2 o'clock money on call fell to 6 per cent, owing to the heavy offerings of funds by commission houses. As a result, the market for stocks became comparatively calm and brokers enjoyed the only real resting spell they have had this week. Indication pointed then to the fact that considerable amounts of stock had been taken up and paid for. The failure of W. L. Patton & Co did not exert much influence in values. Up to 2 o'clock this evening the sales of listed stocks were 444,970 shares and of unlisted stocks 201,851 shares. At that hour the market was somewhat feverish; although some stocks are actually above last night's closing.

At the office of Ferris & Kimball, whose failure was announced at 12:45 o'clock, it was stated that no statement of the condition of the firm would be given out until later in the afternoon. The shrinkage in Industrials carried down the concern.

A feature of the market for railway and miscellaneous bonds was a break in security corporation os to 82. The last previously reported sale was 96. This is the collateral company that was organized to finance for the National Cordage. The failure of B. L. Smith & Co. yesterday brought out these bonds.

The following stocks were sold out under the rule at the New York exchange today presumably for S. V. White: 2,100 Amer-ican Sugar, 700 Atchison, 300 Cordage, 100 Lead, 100 Erie, 200 New York and New England and fifty Western Union.

After the gavel had fallen and the battle was over for the day the men went away into quiter spots and looked the situation over from a distance. In well-informed financial quarters, the feeling grew that the worst has been seen in Wall street and from this time on matters will improve. On this theory, which had to some extent, obtained before the close, and on the fact that certain houses whose names had been named as being in the storm of the early part of the day, pulled through all right, it was seen that there had been a revolution in sentiment and prices bounded up almost as rapidly as they had dropped early in the day.

Mr. Keene was a heavy buyer of American Sugar, his brokers taking fully 10, 000 shares from 64 up. One broker received an order for 1.000 shares of Lead when the stock was selling at 32. All he was able to secure was 400 shares at 66. This indicates the manner in which the market moved in the last half hour.

The Worst Is Over. After scanning the situation after the close today, one of the governors of the exchange and a member of one of the most conservative banking houses, said: "I do not care to have my name used, but you may say for me that I think the worst is over now. When Mr. White failed the last bubble was punctured and we reached the bottom. We have already had a pretty sharp rally and we shall probably have others within a few days. I do not look for any more failures. There may. of course, be some, but they will be of the small fry order and will have no appreciable effect on the market. There has been a great deal of money lost of course, in this great decline, but a good deal of it has been in margins which will not show on the exchange. Many members of the exchange have no doubt sustained losses but they will be able to stand them. In my opinion the stock exchange is now a bargain counter. If this is not a bargain day, then there never was one on the exchange. A rumor obtained at one time that S. V. White would be taken care of by cercould not be traced to any reliable source The bondsmen for Edward F. C. Young and George Loper, the receivers for the Cordage trust, qualified in Jersey City this morning in the sum of $200,000 each.

White Expects to Resume. Mr. White said tonight that he expected to be able to resume payments tomorrow. It is stated that the Havemeyers, the the stated that the Havemeyers, the wealthy sugar men, have put up money enough—$1,000,000—to place Mr. White on his feet again. His losses, it is said, are in Sugar and Manhattan Elevated stocks. He has a large amount of Sugar privileges out, on which the losses are heavy.

BUSINESS OF THE WEEK.

A Collapse of Prices in Stocks-Trade Re ports from Principal Cities. New York, May 5 .- R. G. Dun & Co.'s New York, May 5.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Had business in Wall street been unsound the collapse of prices during the past week might have caused a panic. Nearly all stocks fell, but the Industrials Nearly all stocks fell, but the Industrials were more seriously depressed and while the average decline in all stocks was about $6 per share for the week, Cordage fell 43 points, Sugar 40 and Manhattan 26. Several failures occurred without general disturbance and the appointment of receivers for the Cordage Company was in some sense a relief. Other specularity markets are on the whole speculative markets are, on the whole, rather stronger than a week ago. rather stronger than a week ago. At nearly all points the backward season and bad weather with slow collections give cause of complaint.

At Pittsburg the iron trade is still more depressed, but business in glass is fairly good. Trade at Cincinnati is quiet, collections are very slow and money in active demand. At Cleveland business is fair to quiet and at Detroit the backward season causes a shrinkage of 10 to 15 pence in orders. At Fort Wayne slow collections are reported and at Indianapolis money is close. Chicago reports a shrinking trade, slow collections, money comparatively tight, a decrease of 15 per cent on eastward shipments, but an increase in real estate and building. Trade improves at Milwaukee. At Minneapolis and St. Paul trade is dull and collections are slow. At St. Louis business is active and collections heavy. Grain receipts are large and the river export trade unusually heavy. Money is in healthy demand and country advices are good. Kansas City reports better trade and at Omaha groceries are in active demand and dry goods are in fair demand. At St. Joseph better trade is reported, but at Salt Lake collections are slow and money close.

At most southern points trade is improving, though at Louisville money is close. At Nashville the financial situation is quiet. At Little Rock collections are slow. At Macon trade is good and at Knoxville and Columbus somewhat improved. At Augusta business is dull, but collections fair, and at Savannah trade improves, especially in naval stores. Business is gaining at New Orleans, though crop prospects are less favorable on account of the storms. The iron trade shows no improvement. There is pressure to sell from the west. Southern No. 2 is sold at $5.50. Birming-ham and Bessemer has fallen to $13.40 at Pittsburg. Bar is cut again and structural fron is slow. Sales of 15,000,000 pounds of lake copper to American consumers at 11 cents are reported. Tin and lead are weak and coal dull. TRIAL OF SIX LEADING CITIZENS

Was Held Yesterday and the Court Turned Them Loose.

THEY AND THEIR FRIENDS INDIGNANT.

And It Looks as if the Result May Mean Trouble in the Future-The Assassins of Glover Not Yet Found.

Lithia Springs, Ga., May 5.—(Special.)— The assassins of W. K. Glover, ex-marshal and ex-postmaster of this place, are still unknown to the officers of the law. And the present indications are that the crime never will be uncovered and that the guilty parties will forever remain unknown to the offi-

EX-MARSHAL GLOVER.

sons too cowardly to face a foe, there can be no doubt in the minds of those who have given the case anything like even a casual investigation. Waylaid at the dead hour of night on a public highway, decoyed into the detphs of a dark, black grove and shot down like a dog, marks the preface to the bloody-cold blooded story. Alone and unarmed, the victim of cowardly assassins was made to look into the mouth of a gun and to see death before it came to him; and his wife and eight children, whose sole dependence was the husband and father, his aged mother and six brothers and one sister are compelled to realize that the horrible crime must go unavenged for the present.

No crime committed in Douglas county in years has created such excitement and awakened such intense feeling as this one. Not only has a life been sacrificed, but some of the most prominent and influential citizens of the county have been ruthlessly tain of the Sugar magnates. This, however, torn from their homes and carried as prisoners before a court of inquiry charged with connection with the killing. The gentlemen arrested were not only among the most promnent in the county, but there was no real eause for their arrest. A vague and indefinite suspicion on the part of one of the brothers of the dead man, coupled with what has been shown to be bad advice, was the only cause for dragging the men, from their homes and subjecting them to the mortification of facing a court of justice surrounded by a gaping, curious crowd.

But the court, after a thorough and lengthy investigation, has released the gentlemen who were arraigned and tonight they are free, but they are by no means happy. The parties arrested and their friends are indignant and declare that they will even up with those who prosecuted them, while the brothers of the dead marshal stand by the charge they have made and assert that they will never cease working until evidence sufficient to secure a conviction is secured. It looks as if a life-long feud and a bitter strife has been started which it will be hard to extinguish and there is every reason to believe that more blood will be shed before the end comes.

The Story of the Killing. The story of the killing has been briefly told, but many of the interesting details have been omitted. Glover was a man of about forty-two years of age and had been a resident of Douglas county for He was marshal of the town once and only a short time ago was in charge of the postoffice here. His father was tax receiver of the county before the war and was one of the most substantial and respected men of this section of the state. Glover, however, does not appear to have followed closely in his father's footsteps, for both as marshal and postmaster h went wrong in his accounts and would have suffered severely but for the kindness of Hon. John James, of this county, who came to his rescue and who was today charged with having eccomplished Glover' death. If all the stories that are now being circulated about the dead man are to be believed, and they are vouched for by the best men of the county, Glover was not only a defaulter in both positions mentioned, but he was almost constantly in trouble and more than once narrowly es caped legal punishment. But during all this trouble Hon. John M. James stood beside him and helped him through, and this friendship of Mr. James for Glover has connection with Glover's death.

Mr. James has a son, Wash James, who is now one of the gatekeepers at the world's fair. Two or three years ago Mr. James and his son were in the mercantile business here and about that time Glover got into trouble by selling some liquor but the elder James helped him. It was then that young James protested against what he claimed to be his father's extrava-

"You are just throwing your money away, father," said the young man. "Glover does not appreciate it and will get you in trouble yet."

Judge James paid no attention to his son's request, but Glover did. When Glover heard of what the young James had said to his father, he became quite angry and declared he would even up things. A day or two later Glover went to the James store. He said something to Wash James about the matter. Glover had the name then, and it still clings to him, of being a mighty good man physically, with a belligerent disposition. He had considered himself cock of the walk and king bee of the hills of Douglas for quite a while and apprehended no trouble when he accosted young James. But James, who, by the way, was a cousin to Glover's wife, had some of the same grit about him and met Glover half way. A bitter quarrel ensued and a hard fight followed. Young James proved to be the better man of the two and made Glover tell the news. It was the first thrashing Glover had ever received and it did not rest gently on his shoulders. He swore that he would have his revenge and from that day to the day of his death Glover and James were bitter enemies. About one year ago the residence of Judge John M. James, about a mile from town, was destroyed by fire and the family barely escaped with their lives. The fire occurred late at night and was beyond doubt the work of an incendiary. But every attempt to ascertain the guilty party was futile and Judge James was compelled to stand his loss. Immediately after his home was destroyed Judge James placed $2,750 of insurance on his store and stock of goods. This he did because he could see no more reason for the torch at his home than at the store. Not long after placing the insurance Mr. James bought out his son's interest in the business, but the son continued to manage the affairs for his father until the store was burned for his father until the store was burned down, too. Some time in April the store was destroyed by fire and with it the of goods. A few days after the fire it was reported about the county that Wash James had fired the building and that his object in doing so was to secure the $2,750 of insurance. But on the night of the fire Mr. Wash James was in Atlanta and remained Wash James was in Atlanta and remained there until midnight, reaching Lithia after the building had been burned down.

Judge James Grows Angry.

It did not take long for these rumors to reach the ears of the James family and when they began an investigation, it was without any trouble that they succeeded in tracing the rumors to Glover. About the same time, too, Judge James ascertained same time, too, study same and that Glover was having frequent and lengthy conversations with the incurance agents who had written the risks. Not many days ago Glover gave it out generally in Lithia that he had secured evidence showing conclusively that the store had been fired and that the insurance company would pay him

$500 for it, and contest the payment. These stories reached the ears of Judge James-his son in the meantime having gone to Chicago-but he paid little attention to them. A day or two ago Glover sent a message to Judge James saying that the insurance company wanted to give him $500 to work the case but that he did not want to work against an old friend and would work cheaper for that old friend than for the insurance company. The message angered Judge James, and for the first time he lost his temper. He sent Glover word to emigrate to a warmer climate and defied him to do anything. Shortly after that, the two men met and Judge James called Glover to account for what he had said. A bitter quarrel followed and Glover remarked: "If you were not a one-legged man I'd whip you' "Never mind that one leg," said Judge James, "just wade in. If you have any evidence that I burned that store or had it burned, it's your duty to give it up and s that I am punished. But be careful you've got it straight."

One day during the controversy the two men met in the insurance office in Atlanta and some sharp words were exchanged. After the quarrel had subsided Mr. Charley Lamar, who heard it, advised Glover to be careful. "For," said he, "you may get hurt by some one." Glover replied by declaring that he wasn't afraid of any man and added to Mr. Lamar Why, they had said to me that they had as much money as any one if it was money I wanted, and asked me to come off." Just there the insurance matter and the narrel incident thereto were hanging when Glover was assassinated. But there is not the slightest evidence that that the quarrel had any connection whatever with the assassination. On the contrary, there is an abundance of evidence showing that they had no connection at all.

About the Killing. The killing took place Monday night about 12 o'clock and was, as I have said, one of the most brutal, cowardly deeds on record. Near the depot is the old home of the late Judge Bowden, one of the most prominent men in the county during his days. On Monday night, Glover with several other young men, went to the Bowden home where there was a card party. Among those who were there were Jack Smith. Bud Moody and others. The evening passed pleasantly for all and there was not the slightest shadow of the horrible traged; hanging over the community. Toward midnight the party broke up and the young men started home. Smith lingered behind and was on the porch talking with the Misses Bowden when the report of a gun came to their ears. But nothing was thought of the report and in a short time all who had been enjoying the card party, were asleep as far as has been shown yet.

Early the next mosning, Tuesday, the fact that Glover had been absent from his home all night became known about town. At first no one thought anything of his absence, but about the time it began to create conjectures, information was received that Glover had been found dead in a dense grove near the town.

Instantly the antire town turned out, and secreted themselves behind that tree and that the shot had been fired from there.

It had been raining the night of the mur Her and the tracks were easily followed. They led through a freshly plowed field and In the pursuit the pursuers found where the two men had jumped a ditch, both of them falling in doing so. One of them left the print of his knee in the fresh dirt, while the ner photographed one of his hands in the Further on in the chase an ord rec handkerchief was found and that handkerrhief was believed to be the property of a young man well known in the county and out the town. The investigation was continued and a double-barreled shotgun was found in a home with one barrel loaded and one empty. The charge in the loaded barrel was thought to correspond with the charge with which Glover was killed.

These and other things caused suspicion to fall upon Bud Moody, Ed Humphreys, M. M. Humphreys, W. Richardson, Dick Hol-lis, George Harris and Jack Smith. All of them were men of good character, and for that reason no one was anxious to stand sponsor to the charge. The jury of inquest would not indicate any one as re sponsible for the murder, but on Wednesday J. H. Glover went before a justice of the peace and swore out warrants for the arrest of the men named. Every one of them knew of the suspicion entertained by Glover's brother and of the warrants, but none made any attempt to leave. submitted quietly to the arrest, only protesting their innocence.

Smith was first put on trial, Justices Brown, Maxwell and Carver sitting jointly. Smith had no trouble in showing that he had been wrongly accused. He proved by the Misses Bowden that he was on the porch talking to them when the gun fired. The acquittal of Smith changed the current of thought somewhat. Some Theories Advanced.

People began to study more and finally evolved four theories.

The first was that because of Glover's hostile attitude to Juudge James, the latter had caused Glover to be assassinated. But those who knew Judge James gave little or no credence to that theory.

The second theory was that the Bowden boys did not appreciate Glover's visits their home, he being a married man. This theory quickly fell through because of the standing of the family, and the Bowden boys were not even approached by an officer.

The third theory was that Glover, who openly charged that he would indict thirteen men for selling liquor, was assassinated by one or some of the thirteen.

The fourth theory advanced was that some unknown enemy had done the work. None of the theories could be proven and acting upon the idea, probably, that all should be ventilated, Glover's brother swore out a warrant for Judge James and the judge was arrested, taken to the court and made stand trial for murder.

The arrest of Judge James created a sensation throughout the county and when the investigation opened today the town was thronged, people being here from all sections of the county. Judge James was a brave confederate soldier and lost one leg on the hattlefield He left a piece of his skull there, too, and was left on a battlefield for dead. He was too ill when his trial opened to sit up and reclined upon a bed in the courtroom surrounded by members of his family and friends. As he lay upon the bed with his crutches resting beside him and his empty breeches leg hanging down, he made a picture that would have touched the heart of Grady. No one around him had any faith in the charge and even one of the Glover boys exonerated Judge Not long after the trial began, all the defendants except Smith joining, the court of inquiry ordered written across the back of the warrant on which the judge was arrested these words:

Upon the hearing of the within case, the state's counsel consenting, it is ordered by the court the same be dismissed for want of evidence indicating any probable cause.

attorney for the state felt satisfied that he had a strong case against these He pushed it hard and brought out some strange, if not strong circumstantial evidence against them. But it was stranger than strong and so purely circumstantial that the court would not accept it. Throughout the trial there was much talk of blind tigers especially was there evidence of this nature against Moody and Humphreys. So conclusive was the evidence against them in that direction that the court, while acquitting them of the charge preferred, bound them over in the sum of $100 each for running a blind tiger and the bonds were given.

James, though quite ill. would no leave his bed in the courtroom until the last trial was over. His brother, Hon. Joe James, United States district attorney, was with him a part of the time.

The charge and arrest annoyed Judge

The charge and arrest annoyed Judge James considerably.

"Why," said he, "it's a damnable outrage. If I wanted to accomplish any one's death I would have the nerve to face him like a man and do so. I have faced death before and my record as a soldier will show that I am no man to cowardly assassinate a foe in the dark. I do not blame Glover's brothers for trying to find the assassin and I shall do as much as they to unearth him, but they ought to be careful how they go about it. Glover never had a better friend than I I kept him out of the penitentiary more than once. Why when he went short in his accounts at the dead hour of the night and begged for money, to help him out and I gave it to him. But for that he would have gone to Albany."

to him. But for that he would have gone to Albany."

J. H. Glover, the brother of the dead marshal, is highly incensed. He is one of the best men in the county and says he will uncover the assassin.

"He was my brother," said Mr. Glover, "and I will take up his fight. I have the same evidence he had about the store burning and I will just step into his shoes and see that that money is never paid. I know, too, the men he had the information against for the blind tigers. I will take up his fight and avenge him and pass the fight down to my children and their children. The war is now on."

So it can be seen that the end has not begun yet and that more trouble may come at any time.

Washington, May 5 .- (Special.)-There eems to be a quorum of the members of houses of congress today, prepared to swoop upon Mr. Cleveland tomorrow upon Today was cabinet city down upon Mr. Cleveland tomorrow to urge appointments. Today was cabinet day, and in consequence Mr. Cleveland was "at home" but one hour to callers. Tomorrow, however, he will give the day to senators and representatives and they will undoubtedly take all of it. There has been much complaint from them because of the slow progress Mr. Cleveland is making in the matter of appointments, and they are determined to urge him to relieve them by filling the more important offices without unnecessary delay. Next week Mr. Cleveland is expected to do a rushing business in this line. There are several hundred consular offices to be filled at once, besides the local offices in the various states and thousands of offices right here in Washington, Several Georgians are slated for connections within the next week.

Speaker Crisp's Day.

The files of Mr. Bascom Myrick's paper, The Americus Times, which have been examined by the state department for the purpose of ascertaining if the charges made against Mr. Myrick that he was personally abusive of Mr. Cleveland before the nomination were true, have been turned over to Secretary Smith. It will be remembered that Mr. Smith raised objection to the appointment of Mr. Myrick as consul to Berlin, he claiming that Mr. Myrick conducted a personal and demagiogical fight against Mr. Cleveland's nomination. The papers are now in Mr. Smith's office for him to examine for evidence of the charge. Mr. Smith says now that he is not inclined to make a fight on Mr. Myrick, but he holds that he should not be given a consulship in preference to other Georgia applicants who were Cleveland men. The files of Mr. Bascom Myrick's paper, preference to other Georgia appli were Cleveland men.

Colonel Dis-muke feels confident of getting the ap-pointment as marshal of the Northern district of Georgia as soon as Buck is re-moved. I understand that Colonel Renfroe will be provided for in another direc-tion. The Georgia congressmen are unan-imous in the opinion that his good work in the tenth district in the last campaign entitles him to a liberal reward and they are anxious to provide for him in a substantial way.

Gene Speer Is Nicely Fixed.

Another Georgian received a good appointment today. Mr. Eugene P. Speer, of Atlanta, was made chief of the customs division of the treasury department, a position which pays $2,100 a year. Mr. Speer held a chief of division position in the treasury under Mr. Cleveland eight years ago. Though this is not the same place it is of the same grade. Mr. Speer was endorsed by both the Georgia senators and nearly all the delegation. Recently Mr. Speer has been the correspondent of The Savannah News and The Atlanta Journal. He may continue to correspond for The News but will give up The Journal. More About Georgians.

He Is Charged with Assault on the Wife of Prisoner.

Carrollton, Ga., May 5.—(Special.)—J.
H. Lipscomb, high sheriff of Heard county, is under arrest charged with an assault on the wife of one of his prisoners, Bob Whitmore, a white man living near Franklin, a town of Heard county.

Whitmore and his wife have not been getting along well together, it is said, and the wife had her husband arrested for beating her. Sheriff Lipscomb made the beating her. Sheriff Lipscomb made the arrest and put Whitmore in jail.

Rumor has it that Sheriff Lipscomb commenced visiting the home of Whitmore while the latter was in jail. He, at different times, carried the wife flour and other home articles and gave the woman some whisky. The latter claims that the sheriff made improper proposals to her and an attempt was made to force her to submit. The woman swore out a warrant for the sheriff and he is in the custody of the coroner of the county. He attempted to leave, but was caught. His bondsmen have come off his shrievalty bond.

Mr. Lipscomb has been sheriff of Heard county for ten years. He is a man fifty years old with a large family. The people are very much excited over the affair. Lipscomb's friends claim it is a case of blackmail and that the woman swore out the warrant in order to extort money from the sheriff.

FURTHER DETAILS OF THE AFFAIR

Told by Eye Witnesses-How the Mob Came Up-Their Demand and the Judge's Actions.

Jackson, Miss., May 5.—Governor Stone, Adjutant General Henry and Secretary of State Gavon returned from Brookhaven last night and report the town quiet. The forty needle guns and 1,000 rounds of ammunition, which they took down with them yes-terday, were left there for use by the forty special deputies who have been sworn in to guard the court and jail and if another attempt is made to rescue the prisoners the orders are to use the guns. Governor Stone will return to Brookhaven Monday next, the day set for the trial, and is determined to protect the peace and dignity of the state and stamp out white capping of such lawless and infamous proceedings He will address the people before court convenes on Monday.

All About the Affair.

Frank Peyton, court stenographer, and Dr. Wirt Johnston, of this city, were in the courthouse when the mob made the attack and agree satisfactorily to the folowing story:

When announcement was first made that the white caps are coming!' a portion of the crowd got out of the house, Dr. Johnston among the number, but Mr. Peyton was corralled in the riot.
On Tuesday the following persons charged with white cap outrages were arraigned before the circuit court on bills of indict-ment reported by the grand jury: Rowan Moak, Thad Moak, Abe Reeves, Rube Leonard, Dodd Simmons, James Robinson, Robert Wallace, Thomas Leonard, Martin Moak and Reuben Leonard.

The trial was set for Monday next and the prisoners were remanded to jail without the privilege of bail and a large number of witnesses summoned. No trouble was anticipated until at halfpast 10 o'clock yesterday morning a body of armed men were seen approaching the courthouse. A break was made for the door and part of the crowd succeeded ingetting out on the street, Dr. Johnston among the number.

Crossing to the opposite side, Dr. Johnston stopped. The mob surrounded the yard and refused to let anyone pass.

The Brave Judge.

Judge Chrisman walked out to the stile, which answers the purpose of a gate. Half a dozen guns were pointed at him and the eader of the gang, a man named Brown, demanded the release of the white cap pris oners on bond for their appearance at the trial. Judge Chrisman realized that he was in close quarters; that the slightest pressure of one of the triggers to the numerous guns leveled at his head meant instant death, but he was equal to the emergency and faced death without a tremor as he coolly, but bravely and sternly refused to accede to their commands.

Dr. Johnston was a little too far off to hear everything that was said, but expected every moment to see Judge Chrisman shot to death. The bravery displayed excited the admiration of the lookerson, but they were unarmed and powerless to assist. In fact any interference on their part at that me ment would have been like touching a live coal to a powder magazine.

The Mob Ronted. The attacking party showed the white feather when they began to discuss the sit-uation. They were minus a leader of sufficient courage to prosecute Once having faltered their mission was los and on the first approach of assistance from and on the first approach of assistance from the town they put spurs it their poules and retreated in confusion. Dr. Johnston attributed their defeat more to the bold, courageous stand taken by Judge Chrisman than to the approach of an armed force.

The mob had lost its opportunity and knew it. When once the tables had been turned and Judge Chrisman secured a gun he led the pursuit to the corporate limits and had the pleasure of seeing the enemy completely routed without the firing of a

It is claimed that a number of the men in the mob were from Pike and Copiah counties in Louisiana, but if they ever stop running Sheriff McNair is determined to bring them to trial sooner or later.

'Twas a Crowd of Touchs. The mob was composed of as tough an element as could well be found in the state and it is more than probable the deputies sent out to make arrests will meet with re-

FOR THE DEATH OF MISS HORNSBY.

Four Times Was He Reprieved by the Governor.

THE CASE A REMARKABLE ONE.

For Many Will Always Believe the Boy Innocent-The Testimony Against Him Circumstantial.

Columbia, S. C., May 5 .- (Special.) - Wade Haines suffered death on the scaffold today He either went to his fate with a black lie on his lips or is the innocent victim of a markable circumstances as ever circled eir fatal links around a human being. Haines was sixteen years old at the time oft he foul murder of Miss Florence Hornsby and for over two years he stayed in the penitentiary calmly doing his work and answering the questions as to his guilt in the negative. Twice was he tried and four times respited and during all this time othing but circumstantial evidence could e brought to bear against him.

It should be stated that there are hunreds of persons who believe that he suffered death for another man's crime. The people of the neighborhood where the crime was committed, however, believe him guilty and have been clamorous for his death.

When Haines stepped on the scaffold at 11 o'clock today he folded his hands and n a deep bass voice addressed the little row present: 'I am going away," said he with a wave of his hand, "going away from this sin-cursed world to a land where there is no sorow and where pleasure never dies. though I have been prosecuted wrongfully can suffer the death of the innocent. After saying that he thanked his lawyer and others for the efforts in his behalf. He said that he would thank the governor still more if he would not take innocent life for the guilty one. As Haines's hands were being tied behind nim a mighty shout arose from the dense mass of negroes who lined the house tops around, and the police had to chase them

The drop fell at 11:03 o'clock and for a full minute afterwards Haines breathed with a gurgling sound, horrible in its noise while his chest heaved and his body contorted violently. The doctors, however, said that his neck was broken. Eleven minutes afterwards he was pronounced dead and at 11:29 the body was cut down.

Haines displayed most remarkable nerve, never flinching. His hands did not shake and his voice was perfectly steady.

It was late Saturday evening, November 1, 1890, when news of the foul murder of Miss Florence Hornsby, a beautiful young and shout eighteen years of age, reached the city. She had been stabbed to death almost within sight of her home, five miles from Columbia on the Winnsboro road, and there were evidences of an attempted as-high and for miles around they came look ing for the murderer. The news of the tragedy has carried to the Hornsby family by a fifteen-year-old negro named Wade Haines, and Florence's sister got to her just as she expired, with a mighty but ust as she expired, with a mighty but fruitless effort to speak. Her windpipe had been severed by a knifé. The coroner repaired to the scene to hold an inquest. As no trace of the murderer could be found, the people became more and more enraged and were like caged lions. They seized Wade Haines and amid the wildest kind of excitement they concluded that he had not explained his presence near Miss Hornsby when the deed was committed. Haines declared that he had been picking corn there and as he approached the spring where Miss Hornsby was found he heard her scream and saw a black man run away from her into the

The verdict was a surprise to this community as the belief has been almost universal that Haines was not guilty, but he was remanded to the penitentiary and continued to assert his innocence. Governor Tillman was impressed with the boy's de-meanor and on the strength of affidavits made to him he procured the services of de-tectives and had a thorough investigation of the case made. Four times did Governor Tillman delay the execution in the hope that Tillman delay the execution in the hope that the detectives might yet establish the boy's innocence. Two weeks ago Haines went through all the religious exercises preparatory to being executed, and was about to be led to the scaffold when a respite arrived from the governor. The boy did not betray the least exultation, but went calmly back to the penitentiary.

The subsequent events have been detailed at length in this correspondence. The detectives reported that no dependence was to be put in the statements of certain parties who were frying to throw the crime on another and that they could find nothing in Haines's favor. The governor accordingly decided that he should hang today.

Lively Times at the Funeral.

Lively Times at the Funeral.

The exercises incident to Wade Haines's funeral were decidedly out of the ordinary run. The church was jammed to suffocation with negroes and the funeral exercises were almost forgotten in the eagerness to hear the speeches. Several colored preach-ers spoke on the line that forbearance was almost ceasing to be a virtue, and that the time had come when these things must stop. Mrs. M. J. Washington, a white missionary among the colored people, made a harangue. She said she was born and raised in Georgia, and that her own people would not speak to her because of her views. would not speak to her because of her views. She condemned the hanging and pitched

The Coming of the Great Convention Discussed.

ATLANTA NEEDS AN AUDITORIUM. A Proposition to Convert the Cyclorams for the Use of the Convention-Thousands of Christian Workers. Atlanta's greatest need at the present time is an auditorium. That was distinctly brought out last night at the meeting of Christian Workers, which was held at the executive mansion. The object of the meeting was to talk over the coming to this city of the world's conven-tion of International Christian Workers and among the queries suggested was the one of entertaining such a multitude of visitors and also the question of an auditorium in which their deliberations could be

Estimates place the crowd that will come to the city anywhere between five and fifteen thousand.

The meeting last night was largely attended and all of those present seemed to catch its spirit. A more enthusiastic gathering never enjoyed the hospitalities of the mansion.

As to the convention every one was a unit in the desire to make it a grand success and in the belief that it would be a blessing to this community and to this section. "I had rather be in Atlanta at that time than Chicago," was the emphatic remark of Dr. Heidt, " and I had rather have the Christian Workers meet here than the great Columbian exposition."

This fairly represented the temper and spirit of the meeting. An opportunity was given every one present to make a sugges-tion and to speak out his thoughts and for more than an hour the parlors of the executive mansion were eloquent with the views and fairly ablaze with the enthusiasm of the earnest Christian Workers present.

Details of the Meeting.

The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock by Governor W. J. Northen.

Nearly every member of the general committee was present in addition to quite a number of Christians who were not included on any of the committees. It was given on any of the committees. It was given out that the meeting would be in the nature of a grand rally and it was so intended by of a grand rally and it was so intended by the governor.

A fervent prayer by Rev. A. R. Holderby, in which he implored the blessings of God upon the deliberations of the meeting and also the coming of this great convention into our midst, opened the way for the general discussion, which followed.

The governor in a brief manner then stated the object for which the meeting had been called, after which he called upon Dr. Holderby to state in a more general way the character and object of the convention.

Dr. Holderby, however, deferred to Mr. J. F. Barclay, who was present, and stated that since he had been a delegate to the convention and had seen its practical operations, he was perhaps more competent to give a better and more thorough explanation.

Mr. Barclay's Talk.

Mr. Barclay's Talk.

Mr. Barclay, being thus called upon, proceeded in a very interesting manner to explain the work of the convention.

He stated that the last place of meeting was in the city of Boston, Mass., and that the exercises were principally held in Tremont temple. Many were so interested in the meeting that they carried their meals the meeting that they carried their meals and remained throughout the entire day in their seats.

The convention was a gathering of Christian Workers, not of preachers and ministers of the gospel, who were interested in the proclamation and dissemination of religious truth and who came together for the purpose of comparing hotes and exchanging ideas in the grand work of saving souls and promoting the glory of God. In Boston during the last convention the churches of the city were on Sanday supplied by these the city were on Sunlay supplied by these lay preachers and the congregations of that cultured and aristocratic center were completely electrified by the charming originality of these Christian Workers fresh from their

of these Christian Workers fresh from their fields of labor and activity. He estimated that the attendance at the neetings in the aggregate was something in the neighborhood of a hundred thousand people. It took Boston completely by storm and many who thought it would be a gathering of religious cranks were the most en-thusiastic in praise of its character and efficiency for good. The influence which the convetnion had left behind in Boston had been a delighful sequel to the work and had crystalized in many conversions and a great awakening.

The delegates to the convention would come from every part of the civilized world and they would bring to Atlanta not only the glorious results which they had achieved, many new ideas for a more thorough efficient building up of the cause of hristianity.

The talk of Mr. Barcay was grady enjoyed by every one present, and his story of the convention was told in a straightforward and earnest way which went straight to the heart of every one present. He stated that he and his wife had agreed to mortgage their home if such a thing was necessary to secure the success of the convention and to carry on its good influence in this community. Several Ministers Speak.

Several ministers were present and they were called upon by Governor Northen to express their views in regard to the work of the convention.

Dr. Heidt, Dr. Hopkins, Rev. W. F. Glenn and Dr. Holderby responded in eloquent words of encouragement. Where It Will Be Held.

The next question which came up for discussion was the place for holding the great convention.

It was stated by the chairman of the committee to whom the matter was referred, that several inquiries had been made and the committee was carefully considering the matter.

The largest church in the city was insufficient for the purposes of the convention and it was suggested to have it in such a place, if a church, that other buildings in the immediate neighborhood could be used tee should be a permanent thing and the convention should merely be the inaugural of Christian work and effort on its part. Several speeches were made on this line by Messrs. A. W. Bealer, W. F. Glem, Dr. A. K. Holderby, D. E. Luther and many others. It was nearly 10 octoor when the meeting adjourned.

Governor Northen expressed his grant-cation in having the committee meet at the manison and stated that he would he more than pleased to have them more at his home as frequently as they saw fit.

After a prayer by Rev. W. F. Glem the meeting adjourned subject to the call of the chain of the local executive board.

Dr. Holderby thought that the convention should be held in a large auditorum of some kind in order to separate it from all churchism and to thoroughly divest it of the idea of sectarianism.

It was suggested that the building on Edgewood avenue recently used for the purpose of a cyclorama, might be fitted up with a gallery and a platform at very small expense and mage to accommodate almost as many as the Grand. This struck the crowd as a very feasible suggestion. It was left with the committee, however, to make the arrangements and to inquire into the matter more fully.

THE NEWS OF THE DAY IN MACON.

Other Important Railroad News-The Georgia Editors-News from Mercer University-Newsy Notes.

Macon, Ga., May 5.—(Special.)—Certain Macon gentlemen, railroaders and finan-ciers, arriving today from New York give it as their opinion that the Hollins plan for the reorganization of the Central railroad, as now proposed, will never go into effect. One prominent railroader and capitalist said to The Constitution's representative; "You can state it as a fact that the Hollins reorganizaion will never be accomplished in the present shape. I know whereof I speak. There will be a better plan proposed. Many changes will have to be made in the Hollins scheme before it can ever be assured."
"Do you think that Drexel, Morgan & Co.'s reorganization of the Terminal properties will include the Central road?" The Constitution asked the gentleman who has just returned from New York and expressed the above opinion ..

"I am not prepared to speak knowingly about Drexel Morgan & Co.'s intentions, but it is believed by some that as the Terminal people own 42,000 shares of the Central that the Central will, of course, be included in the reorganization of Drexel, Morgan & Co. I have learned, however, from what I consider a most reliable source, that Drexel, Morgan & Co.'s reorganization will not include the Central. But, from my own knowledge, I cannot speak as advisedly of Drexel, Morgan & Co.'s reorganization as I can of the Hollins plan. Of this latter as I can of the Holling plan. Of this latter scheme I can assure you most positively, that as now constructed, it will never go into operation, and why the Southwestern railroad people should have been so blinded as to accept it passes my comprehension."

To Cut Expenses Down $100,000.

It is reported here that the Central railroad management intends to cut down the expenses of the system $100,000, and the first step in this direction will be in a reduction of freight train crews and of forces in all the shops. Several crews at Macon have already been relieved from work, but it is not known whether the forces at the shop in this city will be reduced or not, as there is such a vast amount of work on hand to be done and it is said that it is the wish of the management to avoid reducing the forces in the shop at Macon if possible. There will be a general scaling down of the forces along the entire Central system. This reduction may be in the force only during the months of May, June and July, which months are unusually dull in freight business. The passenger business of the system is said to be larger than usual, especially as regards the lines at Macon.

An Important Meeting.

It is possible that a meeting will be held tomorrow at which, so rumor says, the Macon, Dublin and Savannah railroad and the Macon and Atlantic railroad will unite and build one common road to Savannah. Neither of the two lines is finished and both are surveyed to run parallel with each other to Savannah. The Macon, Dublin and Savannah is operating successfully from Macon to Dublin. It has been built and equipped between these two points without a share of stock or bond having been issued. Chicago capitalists furnished the cash with which to do this work which may be considered as phenomenal in the history of railroad building in the south.

WH Give $5,000.

Colonel R. E. Park stands ready to subscribe $5,000 if the Macon and Indian Springs electric railroad of Macon is extended from this city to Holton, on the East Tennessee railroad, a distance of eight miles. Other parties who own considerable land along the proposed route will make liberal donations of land. It is not among the improbabilities of the future that this road will be built to Holton. If it reaches Holton it will be extended to Indian Springs. Captain Park's $5,000 is a pretty good starter.

Captain Fark's $5,000 is a pietty starter.

Graves Will Greet Them.

It has been arranged that the Georgia Daily Press Association, which convenes at Macon, will leave Macon on the morning of May 16th so as to reach White Sulphur Springs, Fla., on the evening of that day, so as to hear the lecture of Hon. John Temple Graves to be delivered at the chautauqua. As Colonel Graves is closely identified with journalism in this state, having edited several papers, it will be very appropriate that his lecture should be delivered at the chautauqua on the evening of the arrival of the members of the Georgia Press Association.

His Wife Says He Carried Off Her Money and Valuables, and Asks Chief Con-nolly to Bring Him Back.

"Bony" Miller, who has probably shoved nore cocktails and whisky straights and sours across the bar in the Kimball to Georgia legislators and visiting statesmen, than any other bartender in the city, is a missing man.

Bony went off last Monday, but he did it so quietly and unostentatiously that noth-ing was saft about it for a few days. He left Monday just about an hour before the regular time to leave off work. He told some one in the bar that he was going to step out a minute, and that was the last of Bony Miller in this town.

No other reason is assigned for the disappearance of the bartender than alleged unhappy domestic relations. He was perfeetly straight and honest in his dealings, and not the slightest charge can be brought against his business integrity. But among those who know the bartended and his wife, there has long been talk of strained relations, separation, etc. When Bony walked out of the bar and didn't come back any more there were but few who were non-plussed for an explanation of his con-

Bony made his debut in Atlanta four years

Chattanooga, Tenn., ago, coming here from Chattanooga, Tenn., where he had previously lived for several years. When he came he brought with him his wife, a woman of very striking looks, whose appearance on the streets never fail-ed to attract notice. For a long time Bony whose appearance on the streets never inited to attract notice. For a long time Bony and his wife have occupied a suite of rooms at the junction of Ivy and Gilmer streets and Edgewood avenue.

Mrs. Miller was very angry when it became apparent that Bony had gone away to stay permanently, and she began to make inquiries concerning him. From the best knowledge that she could gather, her husband is in Cincinnati, and she declares that she will have him brought back to this state. Yesterday, after she became convinced that Bony had left these parts for good and for all, she called on Chief Connolly and had a conference with him concerning her husband.

She accuses Bony of taking away with him several hundred dollars of her money and a fine diamond ring. She says that unless the money and ring are returned she will have him hunted down and brought back. She says she will swear out a warrant against Miller. It is believed that Miller has gone away with the intention of remaining. It is said that he carried with him quite a nice sum of money, which he has through the practice of economy, saved during the past rew years. The bartender had many friends in Atlanta, who discredit the story that his departure was actuated by any dishonest motive.

A MAJORITY OF SOUTHWESTERN

Has Gone in Under the Reorganization

Plan-The Situation at Savannah. Savannah, Ga., May 5.—(Special.)—Some Central railroad securities are still being deposited at the Southern bank, although the time for making deposits expired May 1st. Some more debentures are coming in although it was thought that they had all been deposited under the plan.

Mr. Comer received a letter from Mr.

Hollins today stating that the committee felt the utmost confidence in the success of the plan and he himself says he is as confident of its success as if it had already been accomplished. He says sufficient deposits have been made in every branch of securities, with the exception, perhaps, of Augusta and Knoxville and Augusta and Savannah, to give the committee a majority control of the properties under the reorgan-ization. Mr. Comer has also received detailed statements of the amount of securities deposited, but will not give them out for publication. He says he gave no notice to reporters about the Southwestern withdraw-ing from the Central because dividends had not been paid, and characterized it as another rumor originating with enemies of the plan.

Information was obtained through Garrard, Meldrim & Newman, attorneys for the reorganization committee, today that, including hypothecated collateral securities, $4,163,000 of Savannah and Western bonds have been deposited with the Mercantile Trust Company for entrance into the Central reorganization plan. This gives the committee control of the road as this is a clear majority of the issue of honds on the Savannah and Western system. It is well Savannah and Western system. It is well known that a committee composed of Simon Hodge, of New York, and others, are soliciting deposits of Savannah and Western bonds, hoping to get a majority and thereby control the road and keep it out of the reorganization plan. It will be seen from the above that their efforts will be defeated. It is well known that a petition is now pending with Judge Pardee asking for an independent receiver for that road. A copy of the above statement, showing a majority of bonds deposited with the Mercantile Trust Company was sent to Judge Pardee today. His decision is expected in a few days.

Bound Over.

Willis Bullard, at whose house Bennett Wheeless was boarding at the time of his murder on Saturday night near Pembroke, in Bulloch county, has been arrested and on preliminary hearing, was bound over to the superior court of Bulloch county to answer to the charge of murdering Bennett. They Were Discharged.

Captain Hanson and Mate Olsen, of the Norwegian bark, Prince Victor, who were arrested and brought to this city yesterday from Darien for violating quarantine laws, had a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Paul E. Seabrook, this morning, and only hearsay evidence being brought in, both were discharged.

SOME INTERESTING GOSSIP About the Central-Somebody Thinks There

May Be a Change in the Receivership.

Augusta, Ga., May 4.—(Special.)—Interested parties in Augusta believe a new deal will be called for and Receiver Comer, of the Central railroad, will be superseded. A gentieman who is largely interested in the Central, and who is well posted on railroad affairs, said this morning that there was no doubt of dissatisfaction against the present management of the Central by Receiver Comer, and that a change will be made. The informant is of the opinion that Colonel Charles H. Phinizy, of Augusta, will be called by the federal court to succeed Mr. Comer. Mr. Phinizy, the gentleman says, is the only man the bondholders of the road would agree upon for receiver. This is mere rumor and may have no basis whatever. Other railroad men laughed at the idea of a change. May Be a Change in the Receivership.

JOHNSON GIVES HIMSELF UP. The Man Who Shot Deputy Marshal Upchurch Surrenders at Blohmond.

Richmond, Va., May 5.—(Special.)—A weary-looking, sunburned little man of about thirty years of age, walked into the office of Chief of Police Poe this evening and informed that official's clerk that he was John A. Johnson who shot United States Marshal John Upchurch, at Raleigh, N. C. He said for five weeks he had been hiding in the two Carolinas and Virginia, sleeping out of doors at night with his crime haunting him and he could not stand such a life any longer.

Johnson was charged with making counterfeit honey and he shot the marshal one night in East Raleigh while the officer was trying to arrest him. There was $300 reward for his apprehension.

DOMESTIC UNHAPPINESS THE CAUSE, $150 REWARD FOR HIS CAPTURE.

The Atlanta National Bank, Which Fell s Victim to Him to the Extent of $1,400, Offers the Reward.

Before tonight Uncle Sam's mail bags will be heavily sprinkled with pictures of handsome Charley Crane, the missing real estate man, and before tomorrow night the pictures, together with a few facts concernpictures, together with a few facts concerning some recent actions of that gentleman and descriptions of his personal appearance will be glued fast into the "wanted" book of every well regulated police department in the country.

Chief Connolly last night added to his large collection of photographs that of young Crane, and the picture represents a very

Crane, and the picture represents a very nice looking, very nicely dressed young American, whose blonde face is distinguished by a blonde mustache. Today Chief Connolly will have printed several hundred circulars addressed to the police of the country, on which he will have reproduced the features of the departed real estate broker, with a full description of him. Chief Connolly will state in big letters that $150 reward will be paid to the person arresting the young man whose pleture adorns the circular making the announcement. This reward was offered yesterday, two of Crane's victims contributing to it.

Yesterday morning's Constitution told of Crane's alleged forgery in the case of Dr. Styles, and of the fact that the detectives were looking for him. But that was not the beginning of what now appears to be the crookedness of the real estate man. Yesterday's developments, sided by the announcement of the alleged forgery of notes, negotiated to Dr. Styles, brought out some very startling facts, which indicate that Mr. Crane was not lacking in shrewdness and boldness.

Thursday Crane went to Mr. Hugh Inman with three notes, aggregaing in face value, something over $1,400, which notes were signed by Dr. Allensworth, Mr. Crane's father-in-law, and made payable to Mr. J. J. Coakley, the real estate man. It was represented to Mr. Inman that Mr. Coakley had sold Mr. Allensworth a piece of real estate and had received the notes in payment. Mr. Crane wanted to negotiate the notes to Mr. Inman, allowing him a liberal discount on them. Mr. Inman said he would purchase them if the maker of them said they were genuine. Upon investigation he found that Mr. Allensworth had really signed the notes, and he gave Mr. Crane a check on the Atlanta National bank for $1,400, payable to J. J. Coakley, Mr. Crane endorsed the name of Mr. Coakley across the back of the check, and on Thursday afternoon, just before the bank closed, received the money on the check. man with three notes, aggregaing in face on Thursday afternoon, just before the bank closed, received the money on the check. That the endorsement was a forgery was not discovered until yesterday morning.

As soon as the forgery was discovered at the bank, Mr. Paul Romare sent for Chief Connolly and held a conference with him. He gave the chief the facts in the case, and authorized that officer to offer a reward of $100 for the capture of Crane.

The loss of the $1,400 will, of course, fall on the bank, as the forgery was practiced upon the check after it left Mr. Inman's hands. Mr. Romare is very anxious to catch Crane.

Dr. Styles, who is out just $650 by Mr. Crane, is also very anxious that that gen-

The detectives were busy looking for him yesterday, but could find no trace of him.

Crane's wife is prostrated with distress over her husband's troubles, and has taken to her bed. The affair has created considerable of a sensation in the city.

The People Demand Light.

The financial disasters in Wall street during the past two days are the natural outcome of the uncertainty in which the policy of the new administration is

An early extra session of congress would have prevented these disturbances in monetary circles. The call for an early session, issued today, would inspire confidence. The people, the business men and the financiers of the country have been groping in the dark ever since the 4th of March. What they want is light, and plenty of it, on the financial situation at the earliest possible moment. Let them be assured that congress will meet in the course of the next few weeks, and they will feel easier. It will be a relief to them to know that they will not long remain in suspense.

We cannot go along with any degree of confidence or hope until we know the policy of the government in regard to the money and tariff problems. If action is to be delayed until late in the fall or next winter, there will be general restlessness and distrust. The events in Wall street emphasize this view. The people want to know just what to expect. They want the administration to formulate its policy and get it in good working order without unnecessary delay, and this cannot be done without an extra session of congress.

The call should be issued at once. and the earliest practicable day should be named for the assembling of our national councils. Delay will only increase our difficulties, and the Wall street panic will widen its circle until every important interest in the country will suffer. The people want congress to get to work. Both parties and all classes of our population want information and light. They feel that they cannot safely go on blundering in total darkness any longer.

Had congress been called in extra session at the beginning of the new administration the present flurry in Wall street would no doubt have been averted, because its basis is the uncertainty of the financial situation.

Do it without further unnecessary delay!

Do something!

The Wall Street Trouble.

There seems to be trouble brewing in Wall street. Little summer whirlwinds are flurrying about the corners, and all the avenues of speculation appear to be so breezy that some of the operators are unable to keep their hats on.

What is the difficulty? It is of Wall street's own making. The banks have insisted that the silver obligations of the government shall be paid in gold, and this policy has, in fact, been adopted by the administration. It was thought that this would have a quieting effect, but, as a matter of fact, it has added to the uneasiness of the money sharks who flop around in the shallow waters of speculation.

They are beginning to look a little ahead, and they perceive that when the government ignores its obligations to pay its silver notes in silver, and pays them in gold, it practically gives up the right to protect its treasury which the law gives it. They perceive that this policy makes the silver dellars payable in gold, and they do not know what is to be the outcome of it. Who does?

What prophet can tell us how long the prosperity of the people, the business of the country, and the people's treasury itself can stand the strain which this exclusive gold policy puts upon it? This exclusive gold policy we mean the policy of recognizing gold as the only money of redemptionmeans another heavy decline in values. The values afloat in Wall street being the most sensitive of all values have been affected first, and the result is the semi-panic which has been running its course in that center, and which may finally develop into a serious affair.

Other causes have contributed to the situation, but the chief and moving cause is the policy which recognizes gold alone as the money of redemption and which thirds of our currency. This policy is pleasing to the goldolators and the more ey sharks, but that sensible banker view it in the light of a somewhat doubtful experiment is shown by the fact that at the beginning of this month, as compared with the beginning of February, the loans and discounts of the clearing house banks of New York have decreased $39,000,000. This is a contraction which, at this season, when there is usually an increased demand for loans, goes to the very vitals of business. It amounts to a tremendous check on credits not only among the banks but among business men.

The fact that the brakes have been out on by the banks so suddenly as to create a shock is sufficient evidence that they believe a dislocation of our currency system will be the result of the policy which discards silver coin as the money of redemption and places our system on an exclusively gold basis. At any rate, the clearing house banks have contracted their loans and discounts and this contraction has made money scarce and hard to get in Wall Simultaneous with this contraction of currency and credits comes the decline in values which makes itself felt on the most sensitive stocks. The pinch comes in Wall street first, but it will be felt all over the whole country within the course of a few months unless there is some change in the policy which refuses to recognize our coined silver as primary money, as money of redemption.

Wall street always feels the blizzard first. It felt it first in 1873, when the demonetization of silver brought about a contraction of values that convulsed the whole country, precipitating the memorable panic of that year. But the people felt it later, and, unless the policy of the treasury is changed, they will feel the results that are already perceptible in Wall street. There will be no crash, but all values will contract to fit themselves to the gold standard thus exclusively set up, and there will be a further decline in prices.

There is no real panic in Wall street. but the flurry that inevitably follows the adjustment of sensitive stocks to new conditions and to new values. The clearing house banks have it in their power to prevent a panic, and they will use that power whenever it becomes necessary. When money becomes scarce enough to affect their currents of business they will issue clearing house certificatese which is the means they have adopted to tide over a money panic..

We do not see anything in the situation to alarm the people, or even to disturb them. We do not see anything likely to affect seriously the people of the south. Before the ill effects of the present temporary policy are felt in this section, it will likely be changed, or congress will have been called fogether, or the country will fit itself to the new conditions.

In any event, we are sure nothing will stand in the way of carrying out the general policy of reform and relief outlined in the democratic platform. The redemption of the pledges therein set forth will go a long way towards placing the people of the country beyond the reach, immediate or remote, of the results of financial or speculative flurries in Wall street.

Governor Tillman Takes Action.

The action of Governor Tillman, of South Carolina, in appointing Solicitor Jervey, of the Charleston circuit, to prosecute the Denmark lynchers, is worthy of all commendation. It is an assurance in advance that no guilty man will be allowed to escape.

Under all the circumstances, the public will watch with unusual interest the roceedings that Governor Tillman has inaugurated. Solicitor Jervey is pledged to a course which, if carried out, will make an example of the lynchers. a public speech at Columbia, shortly after the execution of the negro, he declared that if he were the solicitor of Barnwell county he would indict every man who took part in the murder. He also declared that he would name Governor Tillman as an accessory before the fact.

The opportunity which Solicitor Jervey seemed to long for has come to him and his selection as the prosecuting officer is undoubtedly due to his declaration that he would leave no stone unturned to bring the lynchers to justice. Practically, his work is cut out for him, and all that is needed is an energetic prosecution, which Solicitor Jervey will undoubtedly devote himself to.

It is a case that practically involves an entire community. Those who executed the negro and those who aided and abetted his taking off are well There was and has been not known. the slightest attempt at concealment. So that Solicitor Jervey's duties are very much simplified. He has an opportunity, too, if he choose to take advantage of it, of "naming" Governor Tillman as accessory, and the public is therefore justified in anticipating developments of a very interesting char-

A Woman's Tears.

Mrs. Potter Palmer won a decisive victory, the other day, over some of the captions lady managers of the world's fair.

There was a stormy scene at a meeting of the board, and the issue was doubtful, until Mrs. Palmer tearfully announced that she would resign, if the ladies would not quit quarreling. This produced a startling effect. The lady managers made brief speeches full of emotion. A rain of tears followed, and a gentle breeze brought the weeping willows together again. After the storm came the sunshine, and the orators in broken voices proclaimed their love for Mrs. Palmer, and adopted a resolution thanking her for her noble work.

Women manage these things better than men. They know that, when a discussion becomes heated, facts and arguments are of no avail. The stupid male managers of the fair in their meetings try to argue their differences to a satisfactory conclusion and get worse tangled than ever. Not so with Mrs. Potter Palmer and her opponents. When matters came to a crisis, the charming president gave a little sob, and some thing that glittered like a diamond roll-ed down her dimpled cheek. Then, the magic touch of womanly sympathy drew a shower of similar diamonds from the camp of the enemy, and a regular

How much better than the bitter debates and the personal encounters that would have occurred in a deliberative assembly of men! The weakest woman in all the world is armed with one weapon against which man's pride and strength are powerless. Her tears will win when everything else has failed. A woman's tears move her own tender sex, as well as the sterner masculine brutes. Old and young yield to their potential spell, and when the woman happens to be as pretty as Mrs. Potter Palmer there is no telling what will follow when her bright eyes grow misty with these messengers from a wounded heart. It is folly to attempt to stand out against a woman's tears. have caused revolutions-they have made and unmade many a great cause. They can be met in only one way-unconditional surrender.

THE ROLL WILLIAM OF THE PARTY O

An Object Lesson.

The New York Commercial Bulletin calls attention to a very interesting state of affairs in Kansas It can no longer be doubted that cap-Ital is leaving the state and none is coming in. For two years past the land loan companies have been closing out their business. Within the last few months other companies have been doing the same thing. One company doing a business of $7,000,000 a year. has moved to Colorado. The consequence is that the Kansas farmer finds it difficult to sell his farm or borrow money to pay for it.

Another notable thing is the hegira of prominent citizens. All the members of the late state administration, legislature and state boards have gone or are preparing to go to Colorado, Missourl or Oklahoma.

Now, for the explanation. Populist extremes have alarmed capital. The owners of property have been denounced as rascals. The money lenders have been denounced as criminals. The recovery of loans has been made tedious. Naturally, men with money do not want to lend or invest it in such a commonwealth. They know of many other places where the rights of property are secure, and they are going there. Sensible men do not care to trust themselves under the government of theorists who propose to abolish poverty by wiping out debts, and by establishing the doctrine that a shovel belongs to the man who is using it, and not to the man who made it or whose labor paid for it.

It is a very suggestive object lesson, and we commend it to every state where there is a disposition in the legis lature to tamper with vested rights and make unjust and dishonest attacks upon capital and property. Try the populist experiment anywhere, and the result will be just what it is in Kansas.

The Bravest of the Brave.

The story in The Constitution's news columns of the heroic conduct of Judge Chrisman, of Mississippi, beats anything that has been seen in print in many a day.

A courthouse in a quiet country town was suddenly surrounded by armed white caps demanding the release of their arrested comrades on bail, and when the judge, single-handed and alone, confronted them, a hundred shotguns and pistols were aimed at him. Defying the mob, this one man broke through the line of outlaws, raised a posse and drove the assassins to the woods. Next Monday he will try the white caps now in jail and as many of the others as can be captured by that

There should be a bright future in store for this matchless man, this hero of the old Spartan type. His superb daring and firmness in the most trying hour of his life will be an inspiration to the friends of law and order everywhere. With this golden lesson in citizenship to encourage them, we cannot see how the good people of any southern community will ever again yield to any number of white caps or lynchers. When lawless men find that our judges, sheriffs, deputies and leading citizens are ready to die in their tracks rather than submit to the reign of the mob, this lynching business will come to an end. Our northern contemporaries will do well to make a note of this. The state and the section that produce such devoted guardians of the law as Judge Chrisman will establish and maintain peace and order at any cost.

There was once an Iron Chancellor, and now Mississippi gives us an Iron Judge. We may not give him a laure crown, but we can at east stand by him!

Villard turned Schurz down at a banquet the other day and wouldn't let him make a speech. Now if Schurz will turn Villard down the country will be happy.

Editor Richardson, of Columbus, says he has "failed to discover any plank in the platform that favors the free coinage of a 60-cent dollar." Well, if Editor Rich ardson will show us a 60-cent dollar we will undertake to show him two planks in the platform that favor its free coinage.

If Editor Richardson, of Columbus really has "a 60-cent dollar" in his posses sion he can get big money for it from the curiosity mongers. We suspect that this gay editor merely has a silver dollar worth 100 cents which he thinks ought to be worth only 60 cents. "Mayor McDonough, of Savannah, is being mentioned as a probable candidate for governor. He is a good man and would no doubt make Georgia a good governor, but north Georgia must name the next governor."

Discussing the future of south Georgia The Cordelean says:

"The greatest opportunities present themselves in the farm lands of south Georgia. The mill men have bought them cheap, and as they clear them of timber they are on the market for the enterprising farmer to buy. Truck farming and fruit culture have a great future before them in south Georgia." The Cordelean says:

The Banks County Gazette aims this paragraph at the legislature:

"If the present state legislature doesn't get down to business at its next session and give the people some sensible and practical legislation it may retire with no more thanks than the one which preceded it."

The Cherokee Advance has been figuring on the cotton crop in that county:

"One thousand tons of guano! In round numbers this is nearly the amount of fertilizers that have been hauled out of Canton this spring to enrich the soil and induce cotton to open early. Last year there were not 500 tons sold in Canton. This increase of nearly 100 per cent indicates that the cotton acreage has been correspondingly increased; the sequel is to follow later on."

"Who says Georgia will not be represented at the world's fair?" asks The Toccoa News, and adds:

"Buck Heard and his sister, two midgets, who weigh about fifty pounds each, and who have attained their majority, will be on exhibition at the great show. They live at Union Point, where we have seen Buck frequently. The size of this exhibit exceeds the brains and public spirit of some of our lawmakers, comparatively speaking." and adds:

In regard to lynch law and the stand the Sun says:

"But Governor Northen cannot accomplish this reforts unaided. He must have the strong support of public sentiment. The people must be educated up to a thorough abhorrence of the evil. And, more than this, he must have the earnest, honest and fearless support of the judges, the grand juries, the trial juries and the law officers. Let the appeal be sounded throughout Georgia to every agency which should be looked for to sustain law and order, and Judge Lynch's court will be closed and abolished. The governor has made this appeal himself to the people of Georgia. Let the people hold up his hands."

SOUTHERN NEWS NOTES.

An east Tennessee farmer reports having been chased through the woods by a strange wild animal resembling a lion.

Texas has a man who recently lost a fine farm and all his stock at a game of poker, and singularly enough, the man regards the loss as a perfectly legitimate one. West Virginia has a two-headed woman who has two voices entirely different in tone. She talks bass on one side and tenor on the other. She is not in the stage line, however. A Florida hunter lost his boots in a novel

TALK OF THE DAY.

"It is a little lonesome," said Editor Me Cutchen, of Franklin, last night, "to live in a town off the railroad. But I reckon it is all for the best. Our people are just as off as many who hear the latest news ever day, and they have a heap more time for re flection. Franklin, however, is going to ke abreast, as far as she can, and there is no doubt but that one of these days we will hear the shriek of the locomotive, as she rushes down our main street. Heard county is one of the finest sections in the state, with a population composed of sturdy, reliable who are ever ready to do their duty to country and humanity. I have 1,200 subscriters to my paper, and am thinking of leadin the way by investing in new machin will be necessary to build a railroad to get the power press that I want transn ed to Franklin.

"Our neonle are almost entirely engaged in farming; hence subjects of interest to them are of prime moment. The alliance is co ing to the front again, not as a political pow but as an educating influence th which the farmers can make themselves heard and felt. By the way, ex-Senator Jackson, who was the first state president of the alliance, is living quietly at his home, tilling the soil and keeping his eye open to observe the course of events. Mr. Jackson is a man of strong characteristics, and as long as he live he will be a factor in Georgia affairs

"No," said Mr. McCutchen, "we are not troubled with a republican postmaster. The last Republican postmaster we had was sixteen years ago, when a Mr. Wilson filled tha office. Shortly after that time he moved away and the postoffice was made part of the perquisites of the clerk of the court, and it has remained in his hands ever since, and there, I suppose it will remain for the future. There are but three republicans in Heard county, and they cancelled their republicanism last year where they voted the peoples' party ticket. Our peo-ple are all democrats, except the negroes, and they do not give us much trouble.

"Professor Charles Morris, whose death was chronicled in the papers today, was one of the most loveable men that ever breathed the breath of life," said Mr. Thomas R. R. Cobb, an old university man, yesterdar, "He was a man who had a way peculiarly" his own of getting into the very heart of a student the moment he entered his classroom to enroll. Honest and frank in every little thing he won the respect and admiration of every man in college. My, how they loved that old man! He was an inspiration of manliness to look upon. Tall and straight and stalwart, he had the finest head and handsomest brow I think I ever saw, while his fine mouth, clean shaven and clear cut, and well proportioned nose, made his face his fine mouth, clean shaven and clear cut, and well proportioned nose made his face look like a splendid piece of Italian sculpture, But, better than his good lookes and brilliant intellect was his generous heart. How many noble deeds he has done to make college noble deeds he has done to make college life all the brighter and happier to the boys will be attested by the profound grief that will inflict their hearts when they learn of his death, wherever they may be."

"I was in the office of Postmaster General Bissell the other day," said Major Abraham, of LaGrange, "and formed a strong liking for 'the head of the postal service. He is a large jolly man who can give and take a joke. While I was in his office, a three-hundred nound source from New York three-hundred-pound squire from New York state stepped in and said: 'Mr. Bissell, I'want the postmaster up in our town removed.' Why do you want him thrown out that way?' asked Mr. Bissell. 'Because he that way? asked Mr. Bissell. Because he is an offensive partisan, said the squire, as he laughed away down in his interfor. Well, any republican is offensive enough to me to come under that head, replied Bissell, and I will remove him for you. Now, who do you want put in his place? I have hit upon Bill Jones as the man, was the squire's reply. What are his qualifications? asked the postmaster general. Well, they may not be much, but I have this to say, that he is a durued poor poker player, but he does fine on whist. That is enough, answered Bissell, 'a man that can play some game is a long shot better man than one game is a long shot better man than one who can play nothing, so I shall send in your friend's name to the president to-morrow."

"Nobody knows how my heart goes out to The Constitution and the weekly papers of the state for their continued encouragement the state for their continued encouragement of my avowed purpose to break up lynch law in Georgia," remarked the governor of Georgia yesterday. "I can just tell you it took me a long time to come to that purpose. It was a delicate question, and it brought to me much hesitation and doubt. I thought of the purity the sanctity of home, of the defense needful to maintain it and all that, and I am free to acknowledge to you that I lost much sleep over the problem. But, finally, I put my hand down upon this old code of Georgia and I down upon this old code of Georgia and I said to myself, what was the old book made for if not to protect the homes of Georgia, and the rights of her individuals, and then I had made up my mind to write the letter I did to The Constitution in which I declared that I would hereafter offer a reward for the capture. of any lyncher in the state, and I mean to my word. It seldom happens that two brothers who are not twins should have the same day to celebrate as their respective birthday. But, there is an instance of this kind in Atlanta today. While Mr. W. A. Hemphili, business manager of The Constitution, will be seated happily at his table to feast in celebration of his birthday Mr. R. A. Hemphili, the brother his birthday Mr. R. A. Hemphill, the brother. will be doing the same. There are a few years difference in their ages, but their birth-days are by the accident of birth the 5th of May. They always celebrate the day with a family feast.

The rumor that Mr. Sam W. Reed, editor of The Athens Banner, is going to study for the ministry has been several times denied. But it comes again, and this time from good source. Mr. Reed has always been a devout Christian and faithful churchman. He is one of the brainest young men in the state and if he does enter the ministry he will at once take his stand among the ablest and most eloquent pastors in this part of the south. It is said that Mr. Reed has been giving the matter serious and prayerful consideration.

The many friends of Mr. J. P. Robinson will be pleased to learn that he was on yesterday able to move from the Grady hospital, where he has been confined for the last five weeks, to his boarding house. He will be out early next week at his office in the Inman building.

The Story of the Rowens Clarke Bill.

To begin with, on about January 1, 1888, the Richmond and West Point Ter-minal Railway and Warehouse Company, which is popularly termed the Termi al company, acquired, by purchase, 42,000 bares, constituting a majority of the stock of the Central Railroad and Banking Com any of Georgia, and having elected a board of directors for the latter, through them and heir successors took control of the Central ailroad line. At this time the Terminal ad already acquired the ownership of all he stock of the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company, and a controlling interest n the East Tennesse, Virginia and Georgia lailroad Company, and both of the latter companies were operating competing lines to the Georgia Central. The Richmond and Danville had already leased the Georgia Pacific railroad, which latter company totally insolvent, and the Georgia Paeing operated by the Danville at annual loss of $700,000, as shown by reports. In spite of this fact, how , the board of directors of the Central charge of its affairs by the Terminal une 1, 1891, leased the entire railroad franchise of the Central to the Georgia affe for ninety-nine years, and without security for the payment of the rental orsed by the Terminal and Danville comes, without any authority in their char-er to make such endorsement.

Amid the Breskers. "Immediately after the making of the ase of the Central to the Georgia Pathe Richmond and Danville officials ook charge of the Central properties as if were the lessees, and appropriated to own use all the revenues of the Cen-When the first installment of rent came due, January 1, 1892, the Richand and Danville refused to pay it unthem about one million dollars' worth urities belonging to the Central Railroad and Banking Company, so that the Danville could borrow the money on it to pay the Central's rental with. Shortly afer that it became apparent that the fi-nances of the Terminal and of the Richand Danville were in such shape hat they were in a business sense insol Mr. Olcott, of New York, and a committee examined into its affairs and reported that less a reorganization of the properties as speedily effected, bankruptcy and reers for the entire system was inevitorder to prevent the Central roperties from being carried under color of a lease, made in contravention of the constitution and laws of Georgia, into the melstrom of bankruptcy and insolvency mending over the Terminal, Mrs. Rowens M. Clarke, of Charleston, S. C., owning 85,000 worth of Central stock, through her counsel, Mr. J. L. Perry, of Charleston, and Mr. J. dd Mr. D. W. Rountree, of Atlatna, filed stockholder's bill before Judge Speer in he United States court, setting up the llegal control of the Central properties by he Richmond and Danville and Terminal, and asking that the majority stock of the Central, which had been illegally acquired by the Terminal, should be enjoined from joting, and that a receiver should be appointed. nted to take charge of the Central prop-ies until a new election could be had d the properties put back into the hands a new board of directors.

Judge Speer's Intervention.

"Upon consideration of the case made by the bill and as made out by the leases and other papers presented, Judge Speer, in order to preserve the rights of all parties in the same situation until a hearing could be had, and to prevent the properties from being tied up with attachments and garbeing tied up with attachments and garbeing tied up with attachments and garbeing the president of the Central elected by the Terminal people.

d by the Terminal people.

"In the meantime Mr. Francis S. Hesseline, of Boston, Mass., owning $30,000 worth of Central stock, represented by myself, was made party plaintiff with Mrs.

Rowena Clarke, All made common cause and took in Major A. O. Bacon to assist us.

The 43,000 Shares Enjoined.

"At the bearing on the Clarke bill, which took place at Macon before Judges Pardee and Speer, the Richmond and Danville Kailroad Company came in and answered under oath, disclaiming any right to hold or operate the Central railroad lines and Railroad Company came in and answered under oath, disclaiming any right to hold or operate the Central railroad lines and appropriate its revenues, and stating that it had simply taken possession of the roads 'at the request' of the Georgia Pacific, but that it then surrendered the properties to the court and Central directors. After a two days' hearing before Judge Pardee and Judge Speer, the former's decision controlling it, was held by both judges that the acquisition and holding of the 42,000 shares by the Terminal was contrary to the constitution of Georgia, and the court ordered an election by the stockholders of a new board of directors, and enjoined the vote of the 42,000 shares. In the meantime the then existing board of directors were appointed receivers to manage the properties until the new board to be elected should apply to the court to have the properties placed in their hands. "Some two months after this hearing a rehearing was had before Judge Speer alone on petitions filed by the Central Trust Company and Terminal trust Company and Terminal alone on petitions filed by the Central Trust Company and Terminal for a modifi-cation of the injunction, but Judge Speer reaffirmed the former ruling.

The New Board of Directors Elected. "After the election of the new board of directors of the Central, that body made an examination of the finances of the Central, and from the sworn statement of the accounting officers it appeared that during the nine months that the Central proper ties were in the hands of the Richmond and Danville the latter company had appropriated over $2,000,000 of the Central's revenues and had left a large amount of indebtedness behind for operating ex-penses, for which the Central was being sued. Interest on the $5,000,000 tripartite bonds and mortgage was due, and no money on hand to pay it with. Besides this, at the time the Terminal people controlled the Central, they had borrowed for the Central som: $5,000,000 from a syndicate represented by Speyer & Co., of New York, and had pledged some $11,000,000 of securities owned by the Central as security for the debt, and providing that if the debt was not paid at maturity the Speyers could sell out the collaterals at public or private sale. The new board of directors were confronted with the fact that the Speyer loan would be due in four months and they had no way, the credit of the Central being totally destroyed, to meet the debt and prevent the sacrifice of the $11,000,000 of securities pledged to meet the $5,000,000

"In this condition of affairs the new board of directors of the Central passed a resolution expressing their inability to take back the management of the road, and requesting the court to continue the new president of the Central, Mr. Comer, who nad been appointed one of the receivers under the Rowena Clarke bill, as sole re ceiver until the finances of the Central could be arranged. An auxiliary or depending proceeding to the Clarke bill was filed Central, setting up these facts, and Mr. Comer was made sole receiver. and the creditors of the Central were no-

The Speyer Loan Falls Due

"Shortly after this, the Speyer loan being about to fall due, Mr. Comer, the receiver, made arrangements with a syndicate represented by Hollins & Co., of New York to advance the money to take up the Speyer loan, an extension of a year being thus obtained on the same terms as in th original loan negotiated by the Terminal people, but with some modifications bene-ficial to the Central. This transfer was approved by an order made by Judge Speer. And thus was prevented the sacrifice of the $11,000,000 of collaterals of the Central held by Speyer & Co.

The Condition of the Central Properties "In the meantime Superintendent Wadley, who had taken charge of the opera-tive department of the Central, found the roads in a fearful condition, the raodbeds neglected, rails worn out and bent, one of the big tunnels on one of the lines in Alabama caved in and blockaded for months, and the entire system in such physical condition that accidents were frequently happening. In his report he showed that no money could be made from the roads until their condition was improved by large expenditures. The necessity of the situa tion was met, and the roads put in good condition. In fact, all know that the lay ing of the heavy new steel rails on the main stem of the Central, has opened a new era in railroading in this section, and given us between Atlanta and Savannah the fastest schedule in the south.

Other Money Borrowed.

"In order to effect these improvements however, and to obtain money to pay off certain temporary loans which had been obtained by pledge of collateral securities and to meet certain fixed charges the receiver had to borrow $600,000. money was borrowed from the Hollins syndicate. Judge Speer passed an order allow-ing Mr. Comer, the receiver and president of the Central, to make the loan on January 10, 1893. The Reorganization Scheme "In the meantime it had become apparent that, although the Central owned properties intrinsically worth much more than its valid indebtedness, yet the credic was totally destroyed and there was no mean; of preventing a sale of its various properties under the numerous mortgages on which interest was in arreas and the principal debt due. The Central found itself in the condi-tion of a man who owned property intrinsic-ally worth $100,000 which is mortgaged for tion of a man who owned property intrinsically worth $100,000 which is mortgaged for a debt of $75,000, and, with the property about to be sold on foreclosure for the debt, and with his credit so badly impaired that he cannot borrow money to pay the debt off, and unless something is done with the certainty that the property will be bought in at the sale by the creditor for the amount of the debt and the entire property thus lost to the owner. The condition and hardship of the railroad stockholder is, however, even worse than this, because when you get to a sale of property worth millions all outside competition in bidding at a foreclosure sale is at an end. Nobody has money enough to buy and the creditor gets the road for his debt. In this ruin of the stockholder is involved, also the loss to them of all debts he may owe to other creditors of a less dignity than the mortgage being foreclosed. This great hardship growing out of the magnitude of railroad properties and railroad debts, has within comparatively recent times brought forth the investigation of what is commonly called 'a reorganization plan.' Persons owning large amounts of stock and junior security holders, or persons holding claims against the road of less dignity than the mortgages being foreclosed, go to other persons holding a large amount of the bonds being foreclosed, and propose that they put all their interests together and buy in the road at the foreclosure sale, and then, after the purchase a new company will be formed which will issue new mortgages and new stock to be divided out according to an agreed rate, and apportioned to the persons contributing to the purchase in proportion to their respective interests at the agreed rate.

To carry such a reorganization through large sums of money have to be advanced by some one and the services of strong financiers are required. A reorganization committee is, therefore, allowed a commission for carrying through such a plan to a successful termination. It is apparent, too, that the integrity of suc tee and their ability to make a success the more readily will they deposit their bonds under the reorganization plan to be used to help in paying for the road when purchased, and, therefore, the less actual cash money will have to be raised by the committee. to help pay for the road.

"A reorganization plan is, therefore, nothing but a combination of persons to buy in the road at the foreclosure sale in the interest of those interested in the property, so as to save to them the intrinsic value of the property over and above the mortgage debt. It will be seen, therfore, that two or three different plans of reorganization might be going on at once. One plan might be formulated on the idea that the junior security holders and also the stockholders of the old company should be given an interest in the new company to be formed. Another could be formulated on the idea that the old stockholders should not be entitled to any interest in the new company to be formed and still another plan might be formulated on the idea of all the bondholders putting their interests together and buying in the road for themselves and giving neither the junior security holders nor stockholders any interest in the new company to be formed.

"It will be seen, therefore, that if those formed.

"It will be seen, therefore, that if those persons interested in one plan of reorganization can destroy confidence in another plan which is about to be successfully carried through and thus break it down they will stand that much better chance of getting securities deposited under their own plan and getting a finger in the pudding.

The Central's Plan of Reorganization. "Just such an antagonism has arisen ove the Central's reorganization. The Centra railroad directors approved a plan arranged through the Hollins syndicate. The roads, when sold under the foreclosure of the tripitite bonds and of the Savannah and Western bonds, were to be bought in by western bonds, were to be bought in by the Hollins reorganization committee and in the new company to be formed a certain amount of stocks and bonds of the new company deemed equitable were to be appropriated to the holders of stock in the Southwestern road to the debentures and an allowance was made also to the company stock of the Central and an allowance was made also to the common stock of the Central.

"In this plan, however, no allowance was made for $2,000,000 of bonds of the Macon and Northern railroad and $2,000,000 of the Chattanooga, Rome and Columbus railroad bonds, which the holders claim were endorsed by the Central Railway and Banking Company at the time the Terminal people had control of the Central. The stockholders of the Central claim that these endorsements were made without consideration and were were made without consideration and were made without authority in the charter of the Central and are void and they do not admit the right of these bondholders to absorb in the reorganization scheme with this $4,000,000 chalm the allowance which would otherwise come to the stockholders and they maintain that the remedy of the Macon and Northern bondholders, who have already been allowed a separate receiver by Judge Speer, is to take back their road, and if they can obtain a judgment against the Central on the endorsement of their bonds, then they can participate in the proceeds of the sale of the Central road under the foreclosure of the tripartite mortgage, or, if they want to, let them get up a reorganization plan of their own and bid in the Central at the sale.

The Alexander Brown & Son Bill. were made without consideration and were

The Alexander Brown & Son Bill. "In order to prevent the successful conummation of the Hollins plan, Alexander Brown & Son, et al., the owners of the $4,000,000 of bonds of the Macon and Northern and Chattanooga, Rome and Co-lumbus roads charged to have been endorsed by the Central, have presented a bill to Justice Jackson, who is ex-officio one of the judges of the circuit court for the Southern district of Georgia, in which they ask to be recognized as creditors of the Central to the extent of the $4,000,000, and that they be allowed to pay off the $5,000,000 tripartite bonds, and that they be subrogated to all the rights of the presbe subrogated to all the rights of the present holders of the tripartite bonds as against the Central. Just what use they propose to make of this new weapon, if they succeed in getting it into their hands, is not stated in their bill, but it is stated that they propose to let other people 'similarly situated' participate with them in the benefits as well as the expenses of their undertaking, which, I take it, means another reorganization scheme managed by them in which this $4,000,000 claim must, of necessity, come ahead of any interest of the Central's old stockholders. The tripartite bonds are a gilt-edged security, carrying onds are a gilt-edged security, carrying neavy interest and secured by property worth three or four times the debt. Anybody with the money would snap at the chance of taking them up and holding on to them as proposed by Alexander Brown & Son. In the meantime the properties would remain in the hands of a receiver & Son. In the meantime the properties would remain in the hands of a receiver and the interest run on, to the cost of the stockholders. We think it would be unfair for the court to allow Alexander Brown & Son to take up the tripartite bonds to be used to force the Central into a recognition of these endorsements, which we believe to be illegal. This issue is to be tried before Justice Jackson on the 25th instant, at Atlanta.

"At the same time will be heard the petition of Receiver Oakman, of the Terminal company, to upset about everything that has been done by Judges Parder and Speer from the beginning of the case. The design of the petition and motions filed by Mr. Crawford for Receiver Oakman seems to be to play toward the Hollins reorganization plan, the part performed upon the buttons by the enraged bull once turned loose in the button factory. He asks that Receiver Comer be discharged, that the order of Judge Speer allowing the receiver to transfer the Speyer loan to Hollins & Co. be set aside and the order allowing the receiver to borrow the $600,000 mentioned be set aside and for a general shaking up.

This the Story in Brief. "This is a brief history of the case and presents the important issues now pend-

The circuit justices have heretofore refused to review rulings and orders made in the court by the circuit or district judges, but have left the parties to exercise their right of appeal to the supreme court. Whether or appear to the suprems court. Whether the justice will confine his rulings to the new issues in the case I do not know. SHE GOT HER BOY PARDONED.

A Mother's Appeal to the Governor Touched Him and He Granted Her Request

Him and He Granted Her Request
There was a pathetic scene in Governor Northen's office yesterday morning. A neatly dressed woman entered and presented a bundle of papers to the governor, saying that they bore on an application which she desired to make for the pardon of her son, who was in the penitentiary. She was from Tennessee, she said. Her son was in Savannah three or four years ago and got full of beer one day. The beer made him boisterous. He got on a street car and drew a pistol. It went off and shot a man's eye out.

The youth was sent to the penitentiary. His mother was in Savannah for two months getting up a petition for her son's pardon. The man whose eye was shot out wrote an earnest letter asking the governor to let the boy out. Solicitor General Fraser and some of the jurors and many citizens joined in signing the petition.

Governor Northern heard the mother's appeal and then began asking her questions. He had been very deeply impressed by her manner and the letters which were presented to him. She thought from his questions that he was going to refuse her appeal and her manner was pitiful. She was able to suppress her emotion, but she showed it. Finally when the governor turned to her and said that he would turn her boy loose she poured out her heartfelt gratitude in the most touching way. Those who were present were deeply affected. The mother were deeply affected in the most fouching way.

ST. PHILIP'S

Now Passes Into the Hands of the Bishop

BISHOP NELSON MAKES THE STATEMENT

And Gives a Full History of the Negotia tions Which Have Led Up Thereto. The Official Action of St. Philip's.

St. Philip's church property now passed to the hands of the bishop of Georgia. This action disposes of a question which has for years been a disturbing element in the affairs of the Protestant Episcopal hurch in Atlanta.

The dispute arose years ago out of a difference of opinion between the late Bishop Beckwith and the yestry of St. Plilip's as to the ownership of the real estate. It went nto the courts, and after having been settled there remained as a source of privat friction between many members.

Now that this issue has been removed, and the fullest harmony is re-established beween the diocesan and parochial authorities, the affairs of the Protestant Episco pal church in Atlanta will assume a more aggressive form, and the full influence of that highly important body will be felt in the moral movements of the city.

It will be remembered that The Constitution was the first to announce, some months ago, the preliminary steps which have led up to this happy result. The initiative came from the authorities of St. Philip's, and was heartly concurred in by Rev. Tullius C. Tupper, the rector, who thus showed his willingness to place himself in the hands of his bishop. Since that time he parties to the arrangement have continned their negotiations, and the result is thus old in a statement, addressed to The Constitution by Bishop Nelson:

The Funeral of Mr. Russell R. Reneau from the First Baptist Church Yesterday.

the First Baptist Church Yesterday.

The funeral of Mr. Russell Reneau, which occurred from the First Baptist church yesterday afternoon, was largely attended.

Many designs, which were wrought of every variety of spring flowers, adorned the pulpit and presented a beautiful picture to those who entered the church from the front. Immediately above the chair in which the pastor sat, was displayed in delicate white flowers, a cross and a crescent. The profusion of emblems was an eloquent tribute of love and esteem from the many who had been the friends and companions of this brilliant young man, while they typed at the same time in their own delicate blooms, his brief, though lovable career.

The services were conducted in a solemn and impressive manner by the pastor, Rev. J. B. Hawthorne.

After an opening prayer the beautiful song, "Asieep in Jesus" was rendered by the choir. A part of the fifteenth chapter of First Corinthians was then read, and the pastor took as his theme that fragment of the scripture "O death where is thy sting."

of the scripture "O death where is thy sting."

Referring to the life of Mr. Reneau and his Christian character, he stated that he never knew a man who was so blameless in his conduct. Temperate in all his habits, he scorned to associate on intimate terms with those who gave their support to immorality. His love of home was intense and the strongest and most lovable traits of his character were developed in his domestic relationships. He was always solicitous of the welfare of those who were dear to him and never hesitated to make any sacrifice of his own convenience if it tended to their comfort.

His death was that of a triumphant Christian. In his last hours his faith asserted itself in a tender reliance upon the Master and after bidding a tender farewell to each member of the household he closed his eyes in death to open them again in that mystic realm where the rainbow never fades.

The remarks of the pastor were followed by another prayer in which he besought the divine comforter to minister to the afflicted hearts in the hour of their great bereavement.

The choir then rendered that soulful hymn "The Home of the Soul," and while the strains of this beautiful air were floating towards the door and out of the win dows, as if to wed the reality in that distant sky, the casket was borne by loving friends along the aisle and out again into the street. the street.

The interment occurred in Westview cemetery and was largely attended.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE.

Governor Northen Has Something to Say His Lynching Crusade,

A reward of $200 for the arrest, with proof to convict, each one of the mob which burned the negro in Clay county recently is authorized by the governor. Speaking yesterday of his endeavor to crush out the lynch spirit in the state, Governor Northen said that it is really the great aim of his administration. He is deeply interested in education and many really the great aim of his administration. He is deeply interested in education and many other subjects which can be properly stimulated from the executive office. But he regards obedience to the laws as the supreme duty of the citizen, and he hopes to see the day when mob violence will be as rare here as in some other sections.

"I believe that the laws should take their course. I recognize the fact that the provocation to quick avening of wrongs is often very strong and that the impuise to lynch is hard to restrain. But where there is such a crime as we usually lynch for the remedy in the courts is sure if we will but wait. Some progress seems to have been made in changing sentiment in the last year or two and it is encouraging to have the support of such ringing editorials as the papers have given me. It is a question of education. Time is required, but evidences of greater respect for the law crop out now and then. The serious feature of lawlessness is not the individual case of today or tomorrow, but the dangerous possibilities of ten or twenty years hence. The conditions about us are changing every day. 'We do not mark them much in a year or two, but a decade makes a great change and two decades present conditions which were probably wholly unforseen. We have had in the past an educated class and an ignorant class here in our state. Now those who were formerly ignorant are becoming educated, and some day they will surprise the unobservant by their advancement. To meet the changed conditions in education we must prepare with judgment. Mob law may lead to a more widespread disregard for law and order. To check this tendency and develop a respect for the law is one of the highest duties which can devolve on an executive. The peace and good order of society in the future depend largely on influences exerted now."

THE NEW YORK MARKET.

eDay on the Floor of the New York Stock

THE NEW YORK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, May 5.—The day was one of exceptional activity and intense excitement at the stock exchange. The great slump in prices during the last half hour of business yesterday and the further break this morning was explained by the failures of S. V. White, Ferris & Kimball and W. L. Patton & Co. Large amounts of stocks were sold out for the account of these houses, and the avalanche of offerings created a more panicky condition of affairs than has been experienced since the time of the Baring panic. According to those who passed through the black Fidday troubles and all the financial upheavals since then, there never has been a time when stock exchange houses were so completely demoralized as was the case today. The situation resolved itself into a matter of selling for practically any price obtainable. The enormous shrinkage shows plainly how acute the panic had become. The drop in quotations over night was equal to 12/214 points, and had the pressure to sell continued a short time longer, there is little doubt that other houses would have been forced to the wall. As it was, London turned up as a heavy buyer, and according to competent authority, took upwards of 100,000 shares and at the same time home investor—tho have not put in an appear ance in Wall street for years back took round amounts of both the rallroad and Industrials stocks. The buying power thus exhibited turned the tide, but not until American Sugar had dropped 24 points, the preferred 10, the General Electric 22, Mexican Cotton Oil 8, Chicago Gas 15 3-4, Edison Illuminating 61-2, Manhattan Elevated 10 1-2. National Cordage, preferred 25, National Lead 7, preferred 11, Omaha preferred 6, Rubber 63-4, and Big Four 5 3-4. The drop in other stocks was 1 to 4 points. The activity in the money market accelerated the selling movement, but later funds became decidedly easier, foreign exchanges declined sharply, thus removing the possibility of gold exports and firms which had

J. S. Bache & Co.'s Stock Letter. By Privade Wire to B. W. Martin, Manager.

J.S. Bache & Co.'s Stock Letter.

By Priva Wire to B. W. Martin, Manager.

NEW YORK, May 5.—We will not try to describe the scenes enacted in Wall street today, but will only say that such a market as was witnessed today can't be compared with any day within the last twenty years. The market opened under big pressure to sell stocks, and in Sugar from 80 down to 70 there was practically no business done at all. Brokers rushed frantically around with orders to sell, trying to find a market, but were only able to place killing orders from 70 down to 60. At first it was thought this selling stock was for discount of a prominent commission house, but it afterward turned out to be that S. V. White had to lay down on his contracts and the stocks received were for his account. Afterwards two commission houses also had to throw up the sponge, and one house surprised the street by the vast number of stocks it was carrying. Fluctuations were something terrific, and 1 per cent between sales was customary in the excitement. This can be well understood when it is said the price of Sugar fluctuated from 40 to 45 and 50 points, and the price of General Electric even more than that. While this was going on liquidation was progressing in other railroad stocks, but dealings in them was not attended with the excitement that was taking place in Sugar and General Electric. It is useless to fouch upon the causes of today's panic. Suffice it to say none of the large institutions are in any trouble, and that Wall street has done very well, considering the terrific market of today. As regards the immediate future we are forced to think stocks are cheap at present, but it is not a question of prices that will give speculation, but supply and demand. The number of people hurt must be tremendous, and there is no doubt in our mind but that further liquidation was caused by the news that a large commission house that was expected to lay down this morning had been helped there by very wealthy friends, and the bears covered up a great many lin

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular. NEW YORK, May 5—The Liverpool fluctuations have een somewhat erratic today, the cause being due to the unsettled feeling in the financial world here. An advance of 3-54d was lost by midday, but the close showed a gain of 1-54d over last evening. Spots were quoted steady with sales of 10,000 bales at unchanged quotasteady with sales of 10,000 bales at unchanged quotations. Our cables mention the condition of affairs in the stock market here as the cause of the halt, and, with the fear of possible further trouble removed, and with a degree of assurance as to future quiet, prices abroad would probably tend upward. The apathy in our market continues, the exceeding activity of Wall street directing attention to that quarter. With the growing impression, however, that the worst has been seen a developing strength is manifested, and prices from the lowest have advanced about 8 points with a decidedly better feeling. Trading is, however, very light and cautious with very little outside business. Some fears of damage in the Mississippi valley are expressed, but the dominant cause is the hopefulness of an improvement in monetary circles. A light business ruled during the afternoon, but quotations have been well sustained, and the market closes quiet at 1 point decline from yesterday's final prices. The improving well sustained, and the market closes quiet at 1 point decline from yesterday's final prices. The improving tone in stock circles has imparted a more cheerful feeling to eotton operators, who appear inclined to attempt sales for new accounts. The interior movement promises to show about 4,100 bales, as against 6,192 last week and 9,540 last year. Interior stocks show a decrease of about 20,000 bales.

NEW YOFK, May 5—The Liverpool market was very steady, and spot sales there reached 10,000 bales. Our market was steady, but intensely dull and featureless all day. Receipts are small, and so is the interior movement, while the spot business is very fair. There is little disposition to trade either way, although the opinion seems to be that this market is bound to real the general demoralization prevailing in Wall street. The weather senth is fair, but there is still much fear of overflows in the Mississippi valley. The rivers are still very high.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, May 5—Notwithstanding the panicky condition of the New York stock market everything on 'change here had good support. This state of affairs was partly due to bad weather for the crops, both at home and abroad. Wheat opened firm, though trading was somewhat restricted because of the New York stock exchange flurry. In view of the very uncertain feeling in New York the tone might be called strong. There was pretty lively buying, and some of the principals who were connected with the May deal were refecing in New York the tone might be called strong. There was pretty lively buying, and some of the principals who were connected with the May deal were reported as buyers for July and Soptember deliverles. While the financial news from New York was unfavorable, oper-tors did not seem disposed to sell much wheat on the strength of it, and the offerings were of a moderate character. Cables were higher and the crop advices in this country continue unfavorable, creating a somewhat bullish sentiment. There were heavy cold rains in the Dakotas and dry weather in Kanasa, while the weather in Europe was reported as none too favorable. The lot of 1,000,000 bushels which the Cudahys took from the crowd in the first few minutes was also a strong lever to assist prices upward. At the first flash the Wall street market appeared to be ready for a recovery from the crash of yesterday. On this the wheat market started about 4c higher than last night, When the wires a few minutes later showed the panie renewed with more severity than before, and told of the failure of S. V. White and others, there was a temporary set-back. When this occurred the good buying began. Elevators appeared to be giving the market support. The buying did not have the appearance of being a support for sentimental effect on the trade, but was based on natural and bullish influences. The market started for July at 75½c, touched 75½c and 77½c. There was a dip to 75½ before midday and a second raily to 75½c later. September sold at 77½c and 77½c.

In corn another active day was witnessed with a good general trade, though prices kept within to range. Everything considered, the corn market was the strongest on the floor. It is safe to say that where the advance was 1c, it might easily have been double that but for the panie in Wall street, which made everybody cautious. The receipts were light at 133 cars. The withdrawals were liberal at 300,000 bushels. The weather over the corn beit was not favorable for plowing or reeding. Cold rains prevailed to prevent of all this, and because of a remarkable demand, cash corn was strong and higher. The best prices of the day were made near the close. July rose to 44%c. and September to 45%c. Closing prices were at the highest point of the day—July 46%c and September 46%c. Another active day was experienced by traders in cats, that market ruling stronger with the other cereals and closing at from % 36 le higher.

Hog products were slightly higher early on improved prices and active buying of live hogs at yards and some covering by those who sold short yesterday. The offerings were a little in excess of the wants of the crowd, however, and the market eased off some only to become firmer again on good buying orders. For pork the opening sales were 5c higher, the market improving 17%c on orders to buy and strong general markets, declining to the opening price and closing steady. Changes were made from May to September at 75c premium for the latter. Lard was rather dull. The market opened 5c better and improved 17%c, then declined 10c, but reacted and closed 5c above yesterday. Ribs were quiet but strong. The opening was 10c higher, declined 5c, advanced 12%c, fell off 5c and closed steady.

The leading futures ranged as follows in Chicago today.

The Battle Between the Guards and Convicts Was Hot.

PRISONERS WERE CAUGHT IN A TRAP.

They Slipped from One Mine to Another, and Expected to Rush Out, Kill the Guards and Get Off.

The excitement at Cole City over the attempt of the convicts to escape died out very ickly. Ten of the most desperate men in camp laid their plans carefully to get gway, but did not quite succeed. They were armed, and for a few minutes the battle was hot but the guards had superior arms and the convicts were imprisoned in a mine and there was nothing for them to do but to surrender or be starved out.

All ten are men who are in for life or long terms. The shortest term man was for ten years. Several were for life and they had made up their minds to take desperate chances. A letter received by Captain Robert F. Wright, assistant keeper of the penitentiary, yesterday from W. O. Reese, superintendent of the mines, gives Reese, superintendent of the mines, graphic account of the attempt to escape. Those engaged in the plot were: J. E. De-Laughter, the express robber from Savannah; John Rutherford and John Griggs, nemal; Joh nah; John Rutherford and John Griggs, ne-groes from Fulton county; J. T. Roque-more, from Houston county; John Prull, of Washington county; Sam Merrit, from Decatur county; John Pittman, from Spalding; F. M. Swain, Wilson Palmer and John Williams. DeLaughter and the negroes from Fulton were the ringleaders. Every afternoon at 5 o'clock the guards drive all convicts out of the mines to go to drive all convicts out of the mines to go to drive all convicts out of the mines to go to the stockade. Wednesday afternoon, when the guards ordered the prisoners in line and counted them just outside the gate to the Slope mine, they noticed that ten men were missing. As no one was in sight in the mine a message was instantly telephoned down to Captain Reese at the stockade, some distance down the mountain side. He jumped a man on an engine and sent him in a hurry around the mountain over the narrow gauge road to tell the guards at Rattlesnage mine to watch out for the missing men who were loose somewhere in ssing men who were loose somewhere in the mines. These two mines were connected a few months ago, and it is possible to go from one opening to the other on the oppo-site side of the mountain under the ground. This messenger reached the Rattlesnake mine none too soon. The convicts had all been taken out of that mine too, but the gate was closed and barred. A force of guards was sent down there to assist the two men who stood there to protect the entrance agains the possible escape of the night force of men. In a short while the ten missing men reached the Rattlesnake rate. It is made of heavy oak slats. The convicts made a rush and threw themselves convicts made a rush and threw themselves against it, but it did not give way as they expected it would do. They loaded pieces of gas pipe with powder and nails and had made dynamite bombs of bottles and the dynamite they used to blast slate with. They attached fuses to the gas pipes and the bombs and threw them at the gate and tried to fire the pipes through the gates. The guards returned the fire from double barreled shotguns and the volley went right into the convicts. They jumped for shelter and found they were trapped. They had no ammunition and their attempt to demoralize the guards had failed. Half of the prisoners were wounded. They were shot in the breast and arms and neck, and some thought their wounds were serious. shot in the breast and arms and neck, and some thought their wounds were serious. One man was badly hurt. He was John Williams, white. He had been shot in the neck and he was scared. The disastrous effect of the volley from the guards demoralized the convicts and they quickly agreed to surrender. So they were allowed to march out and were placed in heavy irons. Wimaims may die. He is from Decatur county and was sent up for life for murder.

FIVE WERE SHOT. A NEW ENGLAND MIRACLE.

A Railroad Engineer Relates His Experience.

The Wonderful Story Told by Fred C. Vose and His Mother-in-Law to a Reporter of The Boston Herald-Both Are Restored After Years of Agony.

From The Boston Herald.

The vast health-giving results already attributed by the newspapers throughout this country and Canada to Dr. Williams's "Pink Pills for Pale People" have been recently supplemented by the wonderful cures wrought in the cases of two confirmed invalids in one household in a New England town. The radical improvement in the physical condition of these people from the use of this great medicine is vouched for, not only by the eager testimony of the patients thee selves, gladly given for the benefit of oths; sufferers, but also by the indubitable assurances of disinterested relatives and friends who had been cognizant of the years of pain and distress endured by the two invalids, and who now witness their restoration to health, vigor and capacity.

The names of these people, the latest to testify from their own experience to the marvelous restorative, tonic and healing qualities of Dr. Williams's Pink Pills, are Fred C. Vose and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Oliver C. Holt, of Peterboro, members of the same household, which is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Holt and Mr. and Mrs. Vose, the latter a daughter of the Holts. The home occupied by the family is a cosy and neat looking two-storied house, situated on the top of a hill and surrounded by many of the natural attractions of a residence in the country. Mr. Holt is employed in the Crowell shoe manufactory of Peterboro, and Mr. Vose has for many years run the engine on the Fitchburg railroad trains between Winchendon and Peterboro.

Before entering upon an account of the long illnesses of Mr. Vose and his mother in-law, which shall be given in their own words as taken by a reporter of The Boston Herald, it will be well to give the exact reason for the coming together under one roof of the two families, as this fact has everything to do with the manner in which Dr. Williams's Pink Pills first came to the notice of Mr. Vose and the reason of their introduction into the family as a medican remedy.

Mr. Vose's wife had been in failing health for a number o introduction into the family as a medical remedy.

Mr. Vose's wife had been in failing health for a number of years, her illness finally developing into a brain trouble, accompanied by intermittent paralysis of the tongue and lower limbs. Death had taken all her children, and the heavy affliction had increased her bodily and mental infirmities to such an extent that her husband, himself an invalid, was compelled to take some means Toward securing for her complete rest and freedom from all household care. To this end he gave up housekeeping, and took his wife to her parents' home, where her mother might care for her in her ailments. Mrs. Holt was herself suffering from various complaints brought on by complete nervous prostration several years ago, but her daughter's severe and more hopeless condition was the several years ago, but has daughters severe and more hopeless condition was the more urgent and more appealing case of the two, and so Mrs. Holt for several years has tried to forget her own disabilities in tenderly ministering to her stricken daughters.

tenderly ministering to her stricken daughter.

In February last Mr. Vose was reading the weekly paper, when his attention was attracted by the account of a case of paralysis cured by the use of Dr. Williams's Pink Pills. The similarity of the case described to that of his wife at once aroused the deep interest of Mr. Vose, and he called his mother-in-law's attention to the published article. After long consultation they decided to send for the pills. The beneficial effect they had upon Mrs. Vose was marked. From being unable to stand she was so materially strengthened that she could ed. From being unable to stand she was so materially strengthened that she could walk without difficulty, and in other respects her condition was much improved. The beneficent results noticed in Mrs. Vose's condition from a trial of the pills caused both her husband and mother to consider trying them for their own complaints. They tried them on the principle that "if they don't cure they can't hurt," but before each had finished their first box they had felt such relief that they came to believe that the pills not only could not hurt, but were actually and speedily curing them.

To The Herald reporter who was sent to investigate his remarkable cure, Mr. Vose gave a detailed account of his long illness and sebsequent recovery. He began his came stronger, the gas belching was not be bad, my appetite and digestion improved and my aloep became nearly natural and undisturbed. I have continued taking the pills three times a day ever since last March and today I am feeling better than at any time during the last eight years.

"I can confidently and conscientiously say that they have done me more good and they good effects are more permanent than any medicine I have ever taken. My rheumative pains in legs and hands are all gone. The pains in the small of my back, which were so bad at times that I couldn't stand upstraight have nearly all vanished and I find my kidneys are well regulated by them. This is an effect not claimed for the pills in the circular, but in my case they brought it about. I can now go up any hill without the slightest distress or palviation or loss of breath and am feeling 100 per cent better in every shape and manner.

"They have been a saving of money to me, for since I began their use I have not been obliged to lose much time away form work. I am still taking the pills and mean to continue them until I am certain my cure is a thorough and lasting one."

After talking with Mr. Vose at the depot where his engine was in waiting, the reporter went to the house where Mrs. Holt, the other patient for whom the pills have done so much, received him and gave an extended account of her experience with them. Mrs. Holt said:

"I am fifty-seven years old and for fourteen years past I have had an intermittent heart trouble. Three years ago I had nervous prostration, which left me with a number of ailments, for which I have been dectoring unsuccessfully ever since. My heart trouble was increased so badly by the nervous prostration that I had to lie down most of the time. My stomach also gave out, and I had continual and intense pain from the back of my neck to the end of my backbone. I went to physicians in Jeffrey, Newport, Alsted, Acton and here in Peterboro, but my health continued so miserable that I gave up doctors in despair and lost fait chilerent. They are not cathartic like other pills I have taken, but seem to act directly upon the stomach and liver without any loosening of the bowels. My sleep, too has wonderfully improved since I began their use. For a long time before I took these pills I lost sleep night after night with my heart and pains in my back.

"My improvement in health is a source of remark on the part of those who have known how sick I was. My husband, whe didn't know I was taking the pills, is de lighted at the noticeable betterment in mr health., and upon learning the cause of it urged me to continue the use of the pills. This impulse, however, is not necessary, as I have been too sick in the past not to fully appreciate the value of a remedy that has done me so much good. Dr. Williams's Pink Pills are certainly a grand medicine and from my experience with them I can cheerfully and cordially recommend them to any one who is troubled with heart palpitation, indigestion, liver complaint, and the many ills consequent upon nervous prostration."

Dr. Williams's Pink Pills are not a natent

the many ills consequent upon nervous prostration."

Dr. Williams's Pink Pills are not a patent medicine in the sense in which that term is usually understood, but are a scientific preparation successfully used in general practice for many years before being offered to the public generally. They contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood, and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus's dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, the tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases depending upon vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc.

eases depending upon vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc.

They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppression, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood and restore the glow of health to pale or sallow cheecks. In the case of men they effect a ridical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. They are manufactured by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, of Schenectady, N. Y. and Brockville, Ont., and are sold in boxes (never in loose form by the dozen or hundred) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams's Medicine Company from either address.

The price at which these pills are sold makes a course of treatment comparatively inexpensive as compared with other remedies or medical treatment.

A DAY'S OUTING.

Mr Goodtaste Tells His Picnic Experience
Last Summer.

Upon being asked what was the most enjoyable event of his life, Mr. Goodtaste says it was his picnic on the 10th of last May. He says, "I had an engagement with Miss Belle — to act as her escort and to have a good time generally together. The sun was bright and clear that May morning, and about 8 o'clock six couples of us started in a big wagon to Ball Springs. We were a jolly party and arrived at the springs in high spirits. The morning was spent agreeably in dancing and talking, and then we adjourned to the Big spring for dinner. I had my place next to Miss Belle, and never enjoyed a dinner as much. Why. I can remember yet what we had for dinner there. First, I was handed sandwiches with delicious sandwich chicken between the bread. Then, fresh and crisp Saratoga chips that tasted just like they had come from the oven; French sardines (I bless the man who invented the key to open them with—they were so little trouble); salmon, lobster and skrimps were the meats that we had. Chow-chow pickles, and the best home-made stuffed cucumbers ever eaten. The olives, too, were large and juley. I had no idea they were so good. Then, we had delleious peaches in heavy syrup—why half of one peach filled a saucer; and the vanilla and ginger wafers suited them exactly. How much I did enjoy a glass of feed Tolo tea. It was exhilerating and pleasant and delicious. Well, the dinner finally came to an end, as all good things must do.

"After dinner we dispersed in couples and Miss Belle and I sat under a big oak tree. I was partly in love with her before; but that dinner finished me. I could withstand her charms no longer, backed as they were by such delicious cooking.

"Miss Belle,' says I, 'I have always loved you, but feared to marry, as I had heard so much about young housekeepers' cooking. Yours has converted me. Will you be mine?

"Mr. Goodtaste," says Belle, (oh, how my heart beath, 'I cannot deceive you. Every single thing at this dinner was bought at Hoyt's. I did no Mr Goodtaste Tells His Picnic Experience

Macon won yeserday. Luck was with the boys who wore the aesthetic uniforms selected by Daisy Price, and luck was a great factor in that game. Not that the Macon men did not play good ball-for they did; they put up perfect fielding game and they hit hard. little thing will make a big difference in a ball game. There were several of these in yesterday's game. One was a base hit made a Maconite with two men on bases-a base hit which insisted on crawling behind a sign in left field and staying there until these men had scored. Another was a little error made by Connor in his anxiety to make a double play. Five runs were made in that inning when there should have been none. Then again Camp couldn't see a little pop fly that he could have eafen up-all little things-little,

The game, baring Atlanta's defeat, was a good one. The special feature was the pappy howling of a gang of Macon fans who came up to cheer their boys on to victory. They'll be out in force today and Murray's "Irish Visitors" will try to throw them down.

THE STORY OF A DEFEAT.

How the Men from the Central City Downed the Scions of Atlanta. Shannon's men downed Murray's aggregation yesterday afternoon at Brisbine park and the town of Macon is a howling mass of happy fans.

and the town of Macon is a howling mass of happy fans.

A number of Macon's veriest fans accompanied the home team to Atlanta, and the men knew that they just had to win or there would be a cry raised for their scalps before night; but as it happened the Central base trotters outran Murray and his men around the diamond, and did a little heavier work with the stick.

It is very natural, however, that Macon should win once in half a dozen games, and now she has a cinch on at least one out of the three games here. The Atlanta team is not in the finest fettle imaginable, and two of the men that went on the diamond yesterday were sick men and would not have been allowed to play had there been anybody to take their places.

The first inning opened up very auspiciously for Atlanta. Camp and Ely secured the initial bag on balls, and after Motzextinguished himself on an easy grounder Connor came to the rescue and brought both men home on a clean two-bagger.

And then it looked like Atlanta had the game in a swing, but later developments went a long ways towards disproving this.

connor came to the rescue and brought both men home on a clean two-bagger.

And then it looked like Atlanta had the game in a swing, but later developments went a long ways towards disproving this. A couple of outs ended Atlanta's run getting for the first inning.

Three Macon men came to the bat in rapid succession—York. Shannon and Beard—and then the Maconites went out into the field with a large, sad looking goose-egg for their share. Murray's men received the same treatment, but the two runs showed up nicely. In Macon's half of the second Hess, that plucky little catcher, came to the plate with blood in his eye and a heavy willow in his hand, the result of the combination, including the pigskin. put the ball over the fence, and Hess was presented with a fine bat by some Macon admirers who were in the grand stand. That didn't go worth a cent and a base on balls, a double and a single netted Murray's crew two more runs. This looked like a lead pipe cinch, especially when three of Shannon's pets had just failed to make first. In the third inning Macon evened up matters by securing three runs from a two-bagger, a single and a home run by Beard, who hit what seemed to be a single but it got in under the score board and before it could be fielded, Beard had made the circuit. In the fourth inning Macon refused to score and a tie game appeared imminent, but in the fifth Miller started the fireworks for Macon and five runs were made. Fields fiew out to Connor and he was followed by Miller, that left-handed twirler, who took a different direction, making a clean single. York hit to Ely who fielded it cleanly and everybody expected a double play, but Connor surprised everybody by dropping the ball. It was a fatal error and if any play lost the game it was that little muff. Then Shannon hit a single into Letcher's territory which Letcher fumbled, letting one man score with a man on second and one on first. Beard dumped a little fly toward Camp, but the sun was in Camp's eyes and he couldn't see it, so two men trotted a

In the seventh Rettger distinguished himself by lining the ball over the fence for a clean home run again, Atlanta's only run. Macon rolled up a run in this inning also, the outcome of a hit and a wild throw of Rettger's to first base. At this point the run getting eded for both sides and no more especially brilliant plays characterized the game.

Nashville Detects New Orleans.

Nashville, Tenn., May 5.—(Special.)—Nashville defeated New Orleans today in a good game by the score of 6 to 3. The battery for New Orleans was Leach and Baldwin, and for New Orleans was Leach and Baldwin, and for Nashville, Boxindale and Sommers. Nashville hit Leach for ten hits, four of these being two-baggers, while New Orleans only touched Boxindale for six. The New Orleans club traveled all night and were probably very tired when the time to play ball was called, Attendance, 1,200.

Mobile Defeated.

Birmingham, Ala., May 5.—(Special.)—Mobile was defeated in a game of half here today by a score of 20 to 8. It was a comedy of errors, in which the visitors took a leading part, and a slugging match, in which the locals were the main characters. The visitors changed pitchers in the third inning, but to no avail, as the locals kept pounding out two and three-baggers and singles at will, and also a home run. Mobile was simply outclassed in both batting and fielding.

ON TO INDIANAPOLIS.

Mr. Durant Will Reach Indiana's Capital Tonight, Barring Accident. The racing byciclists slept last night on Indiana soil.

They spent most of the day in Louisville The advices from there indicate that the day was characterized by a heavy storm so heavy that the men could not leave the Kentucky metropolis. At 6 o'clock last evening Durant left, crossed the Ohio and speeded along the muddy roads until sellersburg was reached. Sellersburg is a small town on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railroad, and is just 100 miles from Indianapolis. Indianapolis is 194 miles from Chicago.

Here is Mr. Durant's dispacth from Sel lersburg:

Sellersburg, Ind., May 5.—Heavy rain, which began falling early this morning, delayed me in Louisville until 6 o'clock this afternoon, when I made a bee line for this place. I will put up here for the night and get an early start for Indianapolis tomorrow, 100 miles distant. Yesterday I made a desperate effort to get out of reach of Howard, but when I came down stairs this morning I found him registered. The roads in this part of the country are not as good as I anticipated, and making time requires the most persistent and strenuous exertion.

E. M. DURANT.

THAT RELAY BICYCLE RACE.

The Message Delivered to Governor Altgeld from Governor Russell.

Chicago, May 5.-Almost exhausted and faint from his great exertion, Frank Skeele brought the relay bicycle message from Hammond, Ind., to Kensington at 7:35 o'clock this morning. Governor Russell's message left Hammond at 7:05 o'clock a. m. Skeele did not attempt to use the roads when he started upon the next to the last stage of the journey that is to bring the message to Governor Atlgeld. He at once took the Michigan Central railway track and began to throw mud right and left. For thirty minutes the sturdy young man pumped away and promptly at the expiration of thirty minutes he rolled into Kensington. He was pale and exhausted. Almost falling, he was lifted from his machine and staggered against a telephone pole, where he sought to gain relief. The rubber bag holding the message was thrown to the men who carried it into this city—N. H. Van Sycklen and J. B. Bliss. These Chicago wheelmen started away as promptly as the transfer could be made and the last miles of the jour-ney were soon being reeled off. Skeele was covered with mud and three spokes of his wheel were broken. In a short time he recovered and started back to Hammond.

Fire in an Opera House. Pire in an Opera House.

Detroit, May 5.—This evening, just after the curtain at the Detroit opera house had been raised, the audience was startled by a cry of fire and they made a rush for the doors. The fire was put out after a short fight and the loss was small. When the extent of the fire became known the ushers were enabled to quiet the audience, who returned to their seats and the play continued. THE TABERNACLE.

The Christian Revival Now in Full Progress.

REV. MR. MARTIN'S STRONG WORDS.

The Sweet Singing of Mr. Easton Charme the Congregation-The Meetings Gain in Interest Every Night.

The revival services of the Central Christian church have been so successful that they have overflowed the church, and they have provided a large tabernacle in which they are being held. The meeting last evening was the second held in the tabernacle and was enthusiastic and successful in every way.

The tabernacle is centrally located on the corner of Edgewood avenue and Ivy street. It is of wood and has substantial street. It is of wood and has substantial walls, quite an advantage in any place to be used at night. The floor is covered with sawdust, and every convenient place is utilized for benches, which will seat over two thousand people. There is a large stage on which are the speakers and the choir. The view from it of the multitude of people in the congregation, brought into strong relief by the arc lights overhead.

strong relief by the arc lights overhead.

The meetings are being conducted by Rev. S. M. Martin, the celebrated evangelist, and are under the auspices of the Christian church, though all denominations are expected to take part in them. Mr. Martin is accompanied by Professor H. A. Easton, a magnificent singer and chorus leader, who is assisted by a large choir composed of members of the Christian church.

The subject of the meeting last night was "Whiners." It was opened with prayer by Rev. T. P. Cleveland. "Redeemed," a song "Whiners." It was opened with prayer by Rev. T. P. Cleveland. "Redeemed," a song in the gospel hymn book used by Mesrs. Martin and Easton, was sung, and then the evangelist made a few preliminary remarks requesting perfect order in the congregation. The sermon was from the fifth enapter of II kings, which tells the story of Naaman, the leper. The whole chapter was first read. Mr. Martin has a graceful delivery and a pleasant and powerful voice which can be heard throughout the building. He frequently points his wisdom with wit, but never fails after making an amusing hit to drive the truth home. Following is a synopsis of his sermon:

"Naaman was the general in chief of the armies of Syria, but he was a leper. It chanced that there was a Hebrew slave girl in his family who told him that there was a prophet in Israel who would cure him. He determined to go. What he brought with him was the largest doctor's bin ever paid and voluntarily. The money amounted to $6,500, and as it was ten times more valuated in the was the costly clothes besides. Naaman had been told to go to Elisha, but he went to the king, who was greatly troubled, and rent his clothes. That is what they did in those days—now one would be more apt to tear some one else's clothes. If was their newspaper—having none, they did something ridiculous to call the attention of the people to some fact.

"Naaman was told to bathe in the Jordan, more apt to tear some one eige's ciothes. It was their newspaper—having none, they did something ridiculous to call the attention of the people to some fact.

"Naaman was told to bathe in the Jordan, to dive seven times in it.

"There is a difference between knowledge and wisdom. As has been said, knowledge is what we know of the thoughts of other men, wisdom, what thoughts we have of our own. Wisdom is of the most value. In a certain class at college there was a man who won the first honor, and a fine Latin scholar, and many others who knew not half so much Latin, etc. Ten years afterwards he was a waiter at 75 cents a day, and they were wealthy. He had knowledge, to y had wisdom. Therefore get knowledge, but get understanding also. Thus you see knowledge is what a man knows, wisdom is what he applies for the good of himself or others.

"Naaman was trying, his knowledge; he had tried everything-patent medicines, if there were any—and he was ready to take the advice of a girl. But he went first to the king, and was then sent to Elisha.

"Here I will leave him and say a few words about 'whiners.' The whiner either presumes on his own wisdow or doubts that of others. He follows not directions and is always saying why? Most why-ners are lazy, conceited, or stubborn—to which class do you belong? There are two kinds of law—moral and positive. The first is commanded because it is right, the second is right because it is commanded. Moral law permits a why, positive law rests on authority. But if the authority is proper there can be no why. If a child asks his father why he is to do anything, the sufficient answer is, 'because I have commanded it.'

"So many people whine about positive law; they want to know why. There was no right the want to know why. There was no right the second sirice which Moses lifted up, asks his father why he is to do anything, the sufficient answer is, 'because I have commanded it.'

"So many people whine about positive law: they want to know why. There was no right to the brazen serpent which Moses lifted up, yet the command was 'to look on it and be healed.' Doubtless some old Jew was a why-ner. He probably said, 'Well, why have I got to look at it, it won't do any good any-how.' But if he looked he lived, and if he did not he died. The whiners must have been bothered by the way Jericho was captured. The Israelites were ordered to march around it once a day for six days and seven times the seventh—thirteen times in all. The people on the wall said, 'why are vou going around looking for a hole? The Jews could not reply; they had to go in silence, and this must have been hard. And some old whiner among them said why, too. 'Why must we go around? Why don't Joshua let us knock it down?' But he had to keep on, 'Tramp, tramp, tramp; the boys are marching,' and when they had obeyed the command the walls fell down.

"Christ, in healing Bartimeus, anointed his eyes with clay and told him to wash them in the pool of Siloam. Suppose he had asked why, and not seeing a reason had not obeyed? He would have remained blind. But he obeyed and could then tell the Pharlsees: This one thing I know, that whereas I was blind, now I see.'

"We know there was not any virtue in what Bartimeus did: it was in his obedience. God has said, 'Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams.'

what Barthmeus did: it was in his obedience. God has said, 'Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams.'

"There is too much whining at home. Too often the children, instead of obeying, say. 'Well, why? I don't see why I must do that.' This is wrong and ought to be stopped.

"We will return to Naaman. He was vexed that Elisha sent out to him, and did not come, and he was wroth-exceedingly angry—at what he had been told to do. He had been told to go and to wash and to wash in the Jordan. Why, there was a much nicer washpan at home. But a servant said a sensible thing, He asked, 'If you had been told to do some great thing would not you have done it, and this is such a little thing; why not do it? And so he went to the Jordan and dipped into it seven times.

"Dr. Talmage has a great climax about th's—how he felt a little better the first time, and more and more, and six-sevenths whole the sixth time. It is very fine. But there is not a bit of truth in it. When Naaman had dived six times he still had not obeyed the command and was still a leper; after the seventh he was cured.

"Let us learn a lesson from this. Whatever the Lord tells you to do, don't whine about it. Do not complain because it is a lift the thing. Sin is the anti-type of leprosy. It is death to the soul. There is only one way it can be cured—by belief in Christ. Don't ask, 'Why?' and refuse to do it because you cannot see a reason for it. It is sufficient to know that it is so commanded, and that if we confess Christ before men He will confess us before the Father and we will be saved."

The invitation hymn—"Rejoice All Ye Ransomed"—was then sung, during which a number of persons came forward for prayer. Mr. Martin then answered a number of questions sent up by the congregation, among which was one about the efficacy of prayer: whether it was wrong to attend the baseball games; the meaning of the promise that "Whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven." etc; the nature of the Trinity, the signifi

'Erminle" was the bill at DeGive's onse last night. Frank Deshon's company had a large audience and it was entertained in the style which is familiar to Atlantians. Messrs. Deshon and Claude Amsden were the two thieves and the fun they made and the aughter they provoked was just what would be expected of the two. Mr. Deshon has always done the part of Jacques Strop with odd, eccentric comedy turns which puts a spectator's face, be he ever so solemn, in smiles. He and Mr. Amsden were very good. Miss Evans as Erminie, Miss Marion, Miss Verona and Miss DuBose gave excellent support. The singing parts were creditably done, and Miss Evans and Miss Verona had recalls. GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY—To the Superior Court of Fulton County: The petition of W. J. Northen, J. C. Hendrix, S. F. Woodson, R. J. Lowry, William A. Osburn, H. M. Atkinson, George W. Adair, H. G. Saunders, W. H. Venable, J. F. Gatins, J. W. English, W. A. Hemphill, J. G. Oglesby, H. H. Cabaniss, Hugh T. Inman, M. C. Kiser and A. R. Colquhoun, of Atlanta, and Isaac Hardeman, Robert E. Park, Howard M. Smith, H. T. Powell, J. F. Hanson, Morris Happ, W. A. Robinson, Henry Horne, C. B. Chapman, Ovid G. Sparks, William Lee Ellis, W. A. Huff, S. S. Dunlap, A. E. Barnes, William F. Anderson and J. W. Cabaniss, of Macon, and such other persons as are now or may hereafter become associated with them, shows that they desire to be incorporated under the style and corporate name of THE GEORGIA LAND DEVELOPMENT COMPANY.

The object of their incorporation is pecuniary gain and profit to their stockholders, and the particular business they propose to carry on is as follows:

1. To own, buy, sell, rent, lease, convey, improve and otherwise hold, use, enjoy and deal in, on its own account or for the account of others on commission and brokerage, real estate and personal property in Fulton county, Georgia, or elsewhere.

2. The planting, raising, and otherwise dealing in all fruits, grain and vegetables in any and all counties of the state of Georgia, and preparing the same for market; the canning of all classes of fruits and vegetables; the manufacturing of fruits into jeilles, preserves and like products, and the manufacture of vegetables into sauces.

3. The buying of real estate, the laying out of the same into lots, with streets, drives, walks, sewers, waterworks, and lights and such other improvements as may be conducive to the objects of the corporation: to erect such buildings and structures as they may deem proper, and to do any and all acts, and to make any and all contracts necessary and proper in the improvement and development of any property which may be acquired by it.

4. To build roads, drives, turnpikes and other trams, rails and conduits, and with such vehicles, machinery and conveyances as they may desire, and to operate the same by steam, electricity, water, horse or other motive power.

5. To establish crate and canning factories, packing houses and wineries: to manufacture ice, and to perform all other acts necessary or incident to the construction and operation of said factories, packing houses and wineries.

6. To maintain, operate and construct commissaries and stores of all kinds, and to carry on the business, wholesale and retail, of general merchandise.

7. To loan money on notes, bonds for title and mortgages, or other collateral securities, with or without real or personal security, or to negotiate loans for others upon such terms as may be agreed upon, and generally to do and perform all acts or things which may be necessary or proper for the furtherance and maintenance of said business in all its branches as above set forth.

8. To sell, mortgage, lire, pledge, sublet or convey the property of said corporation, or any part thereof, and to reinvest at pleasure. To have agencies and employes; to appoint agents at such places and points in fuiton county, or elsewhere in said state, or in the United States of America, as may be requisite or necessary for the carrying on of said business. To borrow money and to secure the same by collaterals, personal security, mortgage, deeds, its franchises or otherwise, and to issue notes, bouds, or other obligations therefor; to make contracts of any kind whatsoever for the furtherance of its business; to make by-laws, and generally to have and exercise all the powers and privileges incident to corporations of a similar kind under the laws of the state of Georgia.

Petitioners show that the principal office and place for the transaction of the business of said company shall be in Fulton county, or wherever desired, with the right and privilege to change its legal residence from said Finiton county to any other county in the state, as provided by law, if it should so desire amount equal to mis diplate subscription, he shall be in no wise liable for the debts of the corporation, nor for any wrongs committed by it.

WHEREFORE, your petitioners pray that they may be incorporated for the purpose aforesaid for and furing the term of twenty years, with the privilege of renewal at the expiration of that time, under the corporate name and style aforesaid.

MANY SPETITIONS TO THE GOVERNOR,

Asking That Van Polnits Be Sent to Prison Instead of to the Gallows.

Story of the Crime.

Bainbridge, Ga., May 5 .- (Special.)-Dr.

Julius Rembert von Polnitz, who was to have expiated on the gallows here tomorrow the crime of murdering his wife last summer, has been respited by the governor till June

The is much sympathy expressed by all classes of the community for the condemned much improved by a better suit of clothes bought by the bride. The doctor, however, did not seem to have improved in like degree in morals by contact with his good wife and better clothing. It was not long after their removal to new quarters hat the other boarders noticed the intemperate habits of Polnitz and his cruel

One day the groans and pleadings of Mrs. Polnitz were heard in their room and, judging from the sounds, it was thought he was on one of his frequent drunken sprees cru-elly beating her. About the time the boarders had made up their minds to break in and rescue her Mrs. Polnitz sprang open the door crying most piteously and between her sobs saying that her husband had beaten and kicked her nearly to death. Polnitz, fearing the vengeance of the boarders, disappeared, while their attentions were directed to the relief of Mrs. Polnitz. During the same afternoon she walked up to a jeweler's store about a half mile away, pawned enough fewelry to pay her way home, walked back to her boarding house, which was near the depot, and took the train on her way to Cave Spring, Ga. At this place she died two days after her arrival.

When the news of her death reached the sheriff here he at once instituted search for Polnitz and found and arrested him near Foliniz and found and arrested him hear Tallahassee, Fla. He takes his imprisonment and sentence to death very calmly, spending much of his time in writing long letters to persons who have shown him attentions in his last troubles.

He still clings to the hope of escaping the gallows and unless the sentence of death be speedily executed a natural death will doubtless end the career of what was once

A Ticket-of-Leave Man Arrested.

London, May 4.—Superintendent Shaw and Inspector Froest, of the Metropolitan police, have arrested Johnny Curtain, a noted American crook, on the charge of infringing his ticket of leave. Curtain was sentenced some time ago to a long term of imprisonment for bank robbery and diamond stealing. Being an exemplary prisoner he was conditionally liberated before his term expired, and it was believed that he had gone to America. When he returned to London he seemed to have plenty of money, but he failed to report himself monthly to the police in accordance with the conditions of his ticket of leave.

Tuesday, May 16th, '93, At 12 O'clock, on Premises,

The Young Men's Library Building,

This elegant property fronts Decatur 75 feet, extending south 100 feet to a 20-foot alley. Upon the ground is a magnificent, ornate and substantial 3-story brick building, with spacious cellars. The stores below are always in demand and can be rented any time at satisfactory prices on long leases. This building was erected with special care, and is one of the very best among the late structures put up in the city.

The president and board of directors have purchased a beautiful corner lot on Marietta The president and board of directors have purchased a beautiful corner lot on Marietta street, and will occupy it from this time on. Hence the necessity of disposing of this grand property. This transaction should elicit the interest of every man and woman in Atlanta. This our library. We must stand by it now as we have always done in the past. It must be sold to meet the demands against the association.

'TIS WORTH ANY MAN'S $100,000. because it is a piece of the very heart of Atlanta; 'tis the hub of the great wheel that our city limits define, right at the union depot, and between the Kimball, Markham and Aragon—the very center. If, lots on remote streets with inferior buildings are worth $1,200, $1,800 and $2,000 per front foot, what is this great piece worth?

Terms, 1-4 cash, balance 1, 2 and 3 years, 7 per cent interest.

Was well taken by a Judge in a Georgia city recently. A highly respectable and usually prompt citizen, who had been summoned to serve upon the jury, depended upon a cheap watch, and arrived twenty minutes late. The Judge promptly fined him $50. indicating that in this age of fine watches at reasonable prices, his excuse was not sufficient to relieve him of the fine.

This expense would have been avoided if the citizen had been wearing a Stevens Watch. They lead all others for durability and accuracy, and prices are very low. Call on J. P. Stevens & Bro., Jewelers, 47 Whitehall Street, or write to them for a catalogue.

The Order of Railroad Conductors Picknicked at Lawrenceville Yesterday.

MANY HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE WENT OUT

And the Pionic Was, Perhaps, the Largest the Conductors Ever Had-The Day Was Pleasantly Spent.

On the side of a big, rough Gwinneti county hill, thickly populated with giant oals which must have been there a century, the jolly Order of Railway Conductors held their seventh annual plenic yesterday.

The hill is one of the landmarks of Gwinnett county, and lies on the southern outskirts of Lawrenceville, and on the new line of the Georgia, Carollina and Northern railroad. It's a pretty, picturesque sort of place for an outing, and the conductors and their friends enjoyed a happy day out.

The plenickers went out over the Seaboard Air-Line, leaving the city st 8 o'clock yesterday morning. A train of ten coaches carried the merry-makers and their dinner baskets. A good sized crowd was at the depot to see the picinickers off, and when the train pulled out they were given a rousing cheer.

It is a two-hours' run to Lawrenceville, when it is made by a picnic train, and the clock on the Gwinnett county courthouse marked the hour of 10 when the train stopped beside the picnic hill for the picnickers to disembark. The picnickers were lost in delight over the fine grounds, and in a few minutes after the train stopped the woods were fulf of people in search of picnic sports.

In the center of the big grove and at a very convenient spot on the downward slant is a nicely erected dancing pavilion, and it proved to be about the most attractive feature of the day, wurm's orchestra had been engaged for the trippers of the light fantastic. Dancing was engaged in and enjoyed through hout the day, and proved so fascinating that even Councilman Zach Martin had to try his feet on the freshly waxed floor. It vividly called back to his mind the days when he used to gyrate through the old Virginia reel, and he enjoyed it almost as well.

The train lieft Lawrenceville on the return trip at 5:30 o'clock, and reached the city, after numerous delays, at 8 o'clock, bringing home a lot of delighted excursionists from the largest and most successful picnic the Order of Railway Conductors ever held.

The train with carried the picnickers

A Cow That Is Owned by a Gentleman in

Few people know that Atlanta has a freak in the way of a cow which surpasses anything in this part of the world and which illustrates the old saw that "truth is stranger than fiction."

It is in the nature of a cow with five legs. This to begin with is a marvel and excites a delicate reminder of Baron Munchausen. But this is not the whole of the story. The cow not only has five legs but six feet.

A more remarkable animal has never but six feet.

A more remarkable animal has never been seen by the oldest resident of these parts. The leg in question is an outgrowth from the back and in the absence of any firm muscle to keep it in a perpendicular position, it falls over the side of the animal and hangs within a few inches of the ground.

Instead of having a single foot the animal has a double foot on this appendage. The hoofs are well proportioned and are approximately the size of those on the other legs. They are much cleaner, however, as they are not used for the purpose of locomotion but are purely ornamental.

The cow is not a native of this city but was born among the undulating pastures of Gwinnett county. She is a Title below the medium height and is only fourteen months old. She is the property of Mr. T. J. Grizzard, who has a meat market and a large stock yard on Teters street. Mr. Grizzard bought her at a high price when she was only five months old and has kept her very carefully ever since. He has many visitors to see the animal and has been offered as much as $200 cash for her. He says she is too valuable to part with at that price and would hesitate to take a thousand dollars for his temarkable animal.

If sent to Chicago the cow would no doubt be classed among the biggest monstrosities at the World's Columbian Exposition.

First, we've purchased the best clothes.

Second, we pay for sure and true workmanship

Third, we've adopted progressive and generous methods.

Fourth, we have every facility for prompt and faithful service. We therefore invite the closest possible examination and criticism of our men's, boys' and children's clothing.

We have faith in our own manufacture. We know there's no Better quality

We touch prices way below wholsaling. Every dollar that can be saved goes to the reduction of cost that the price may be lowered to the buyer.

The nattiest of Boys' Reefer Suits to be had for $3.75. The nobbiest of bigger Boys' Double-Breasted Suits for $5, $6 and $8.

The finest of bigger Boys' Suits for $10, $12 and $18. Men's begin at $10-every particle all-wool-on up to $25.-Every season new patterns mark an improvement. The oddest of shapes may now rely on good fitting.

MERCHANT TAILORING

Making to Measure.

Many men want their clothing made to measure. No matter how well the ready-made clothing is finished and how near to perfect fitting, they'd rather spend a few dollars extra to have their own ideas followed, and to give directions to the maker as to just what they want. We have a department of this kind. It's progressive and in keeping with the general push of our business. There's another important feature-it's not over-high price. A trial solicited.
